OVERWHELMING VICTORY FOR HITLER SURE

Greater Germany To Ballot In Plebiscite Tomorrow While France Hunts Cabinet.

Nazis Told To 'Dress Up' For Celebration; Hitler To Talk In Vienna Tonight.

(By Associated Press)

Voters of Greater Germany today were being worked into a patriotic ecstasy to insure sweeping approval of Adolf Hitler's Austrian coup while France—one of what Hitler calls the decadent democracies—hunted a new government.

Edouard Daladier, chief of France's defense forces in the four people's front governments and "strong man" of the moderately leftist radical-socialist party, promised his supporters he would have a strong cabinet completed by tomorrow.

Expect Resounding 'Ja.'

Tomorrow Greater Germany likely will shout a resounding "ja"—if not unanimous approval—for the annexation of Austria, carried out nearly a month ago when France was technically without a government.

The fourth leftist coalition regime, engineered by Socialist Leon Blum, collapsed yesterday when the French senate voted down Blum's demand for dictatorial financial powers.

German citizens were admonished to put on "festive garb" this afternoon for today had been proclaimed "the day of the greater German reich."

Days of campaigning by Nazi spellbinders, including Reichsfuehrer, rolled to a climax in flamboyantly decorated Vienna where Hitler, hoarse from a cold and speechmaking, arranged to deliver his final address tonight.

The week of war in Spain had brought insurgent conquest within a few miles of the Mediterranean with 40,000 of Francisco Franco's legionnaires driving today on Tortosa, 95 miles southwest of Barcelona, while the direct eastward pressure on Barcelona had carried the invaders through Lerida.

Jap Legions Defeated.

The week of war on the other side of the world brought defeat for Japanese legions pushing southward against the eastern end of China's central front.

The Chinese army high command today declared that the rout of Japanese forces at Tierhchwang created a situation favorable to Chinese attempts to annihilate or capture the disorganized invaders. The Japanese persisted in reports that the Chinese had been repulsed.

NLRB Orders Republic to Rehire 5,000

Ruling Declares Company Violated Wagner Act In Ohio Strike.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The labor relations board decided today that the Republic Steel Corporation had violated the Wagner Labor Disputes act on eight counts before and during the bloody "little steel" strike last summer.

The board ordered the company to:

Reinstate 5,000 strikers with pay starting from yesterday.

Break up its employe representation plans in its five Ohio plants.

Reinstate with back pay 27 employes discharged before the strike.

Compensate employes of the Canton Tin Plate mill and the Massillon works for pay lost during a shutdown from May 4 to May 19, 1937

The board said the company had violated the act by:

Domination of the employe representative plans.

Discharge of 27 employes for union activity.

Shutdowns at Canton and Massillon.

Hits Labor 'Spying.'

Spying on its workers and villifying the steel workers' organizing committee (CIO).

Inciting violence during the strike by attempting to turn civil authorities and business interests against the union.

Giving tear and sickness gas to the city of Massillon.

Supporting the Massillon law and order league and three back-to-work committees.

Activity in connection with the fatal shooting of three strikers in Massillon.

The board's decision covered only Republic's Ohio plants and did not involve the Chicago plant where 10 strike sympathizers were killed in the Memorial day riot.

Republic's strike started last May 26 after Tom M. Girdler, Republic chairman, notified the SWOC that the company never would sign a contract with the CIO union.

EASES TENSION

Daladier Promises France He'll Have Cabinet Soon.

PARIS—(AP)—Edouard Daladier, chief of France's defense forces since the first peoples front cabinet took office in June, 1936, promised his radical socialist group in the chamber of deputies today he would have a strong government formed by tomorrow.

France then can face the troubled international situation "with calm and assurance," he said.

The "strong man" of successive peoples front ministries, declared France could not afford to be without a government with Adolf Hitler's Austrian plebiscite coming up Sunday and the Spanish Civil war nearing an acute stage.

Walks Into Jail to Ask Question, Gets Answer--Pen

Phillip Leffler, 37, of near Lexington, walked into "double trouble" yesterday when he went to the Richland county jail to inquire about the status of his parole from Ohio penitentiary.

Unaware that he was wanted on a secret grand jury indictment for non-support of his two children, Leffler walked directly into the hands of Sheriff E. P. Long who had wondered for two weeks where to look for him.

Today Leffler was on his way back to the penitentiary to serve out the rest of a previous sentence for non-support. After that, he will begin a new one to three year sentence imposed by Judge C. H. Huston this morning in common pleas court on the same charge.

Leffler was paroled from the penitentiary in May, 1935, when he still had more than a year to serve. He was cited both times on the complaint of his wife, Mrs. Grace Leffler, of Mansfield.

Winner, Losers In Reorganization Fight

When the house of representatives handed the New Deal its worst jolt in five years last night by killing the reorganization bill for which President Roosevelt had fought strenuously there was one man who could consider it as a personal victory, and two to whom it spelled defeat. The victor was Representative John O'Connor (left) New York Democrat and chairman of the powerful house rules committee, who had been a leader in the fight against the bill. Shown seated are (left) Speaker William Bankhead and Majority Leader Samuel Rayburn, both of whom fought vigorously for the reorganization bill. They are shown explaining their plans to Washington correspondents. In a final effort to save the bill, Bankhead said last night defeat of the bill would be interpreted as "repudiation of President Roosevelt." Rayburn said, "Can we afford to say that the president is no longer the leader of congress?" O'Connor countered that the bill compelled congress to surrender the rights it has held for 150 years.

BOY, 14, STABBED IN SCHOOL FIGHT

Schoolmate, 13, Paroled In Ontario Robbery, Held By Juvenile Officers.

A 13-year-old John Simpson junior high school student, who was paroled to his parents six weeks ago after confessing the burglary of a home at Ontario, today was held in connection with the stabbing of a schoolmate yesterday afternoon

Edward Baker, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Baker, 28, Wheatrow avenue, was confined to the General hospital with a deep knife wound in the back.

Hospital attaches said the knife blade had entered the back and pierced the chest cavity, narrowly missing the lung. While his condition was reported as "good" today, physicians were concerned over possible complications.

Juvenile authorities said the boy's assailant, questioned at the detention home, declared the stabbing was an accident during a tussle for a stick of wood which the Baker youth had been whittling at recess time.

However police, who were called to the school at 2 p. m. yesterday by Principal H. J. Dotson, reported that they had been told by several boys that during the argument over the wood, the accused youth had grabbed the knife, a large pocket knife, and chased the Baker boy. The knife belonged to the Baker boy, they said.

They said the boys told them that the younger youth grabbed Baker by the neck and drove the knife blade into his back.

BURGLAR DRINKS MILK, TAKES $15

Unable to Crack Grocery Safe, He Loots Cash Registers.

A burglar who had a yen for milk last night entered the Park grocery, 10 North Diamond street, and after an unsuccessful attempt to crack the store safe, looted two cash registers of $15 in change.

Police who investigated found the safe with the combination knocked off but unopened and a pint milk bottle drained of its contents nearby.

They said that two cash registers in the store had been looted of $15 in change and the office files ransacked. Entrance was gained by prying several iron bars from a rear window.

MARCH TO SEA

Insurgent Army Advances As Bombing Planes Clear Path.

HENDAYE, FRANCE, AT THE SPANISH FRONTIER—(AP)— Insurgent bombing planes blasted the defenses of Tortosa today to clear the way for a march of General Franco's shock troops to the Mediterranean in southern Catalonia.

Forty thousand of Gen. Garcia Valino's legionnaires intensified their drive on the city where the broad Ebro river delta forces the Barcelona-Valencia coastal road to curve inland.

The insurgents made a wide encircling movement designed to trap an equal number of government troops entrenched in the Sierras that flank the narrow defile of the Ebro Valley where the river breaks through to the sea.

BLAME DEFEAT ON LOBBYISTS

Friends Of Roosevelt Charge Propagandists' 'Dictator' Term Won Battle.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Friends of President Roosevelt said today the administration regarded the defeat of the government reorganization bill as a victory for lobbyists and propagandists.

House action recommitting the reorganization bill over the pleas of administration leaders that such a step would be interpreted as a lack of confidence in the president, brought no official comment from Mr. Roosevelt but close friends claimed that the defeat was due in a large measure to misrepresentation of the bill to the country.

It was claimed that it was lobbyists and propagandists who tied the term "dictatorship" to the bill and thereby helped to kill it despite the president's personal disavowal of dictatorship ambitions.

There was some feeling in high administration sources that a lobby inside the government as well as outside forces helped defeat the measure.

Close administration friends said that there was little doubt that some people within the government acted against the measure to save their own jobs.

Hence, it was said, there was the spectacle of department heads working for the bill and some bureau chiefs and others working against it.

SPEED REPAIRS, VICTORY FOR SPRING NEAR

Utility Crews Rush Work Of Restoring Lines As Break In Cold Spell Is Seen.

DEATH TOLL IN NATION 41

Flood Conditions Close 29 Highways In State; Crop Damage Here Slight.

A forecast of clear skies and warmer weather over the weekend promised relief today from ice storms, high winds and floods which resulted in damage estimated at thousands of dollars in the Richland county area and claimed 41 lives in the nation.

Utility company crews meanwhile worked at top speed to restore communication to the county and city, and officials predicted that most of the damaged lines would be in operation again by tonight.

Warmer Weather Seen.

Over the entire nation, winter waged a stubborn battle, but forecasters today saw an early victory for spring despite unseasonably low temperatures.

Rain last night changed to snow in the Mansfield area but not until after most of the ice blanket had been melted from trees and telephone and electric wires. The temperature had dropped to 28 degrees at 10 a. m. and a further drop was forecast for tonight.

Electric Service Restored.

Sections in Mansfield which have been without street lights for two nights will be lighted again tonight, R. D Iden, distribution superintendent of the Ohio Public service company, said today. Service had been restored in most sections of the county as the company officials estimated the ice damage at nearly $10,000, Iden said. Only 40 customers in the county area were without power and lights today, he estimated.

While he said it is impossible to estimate damage to telephone lines in the ice storm of the past three days, Leroy Wittemire,

2 Families Perish In Home While Blizzard Rages.

PAMPA Tex — (INS) — Their lives snuffed out by gas fumes as they slept, eight persons, all members of two families, were dead today

The victims had apparently sealed themselves into their home to escape a bitter blizzard which piled snow in five foot drifts against their house.

When rescue crews were visiting homes in the blizzard-stricken area, they found the stove with the gas on, the fire having apparently blown out during the night.

The dead were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Turner and their two children and Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Martin and their two children.

REORGANIZATION DEFEAT MENACES ROOSEVELT PLAN

Administration Stunned by Unexpected Revolt; Leaders Fear Congress May Develop Own Program of Handling Crucial Issues Pending.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Roosevelt said today that house defeat of his government reorganization bill offered "no occasion for personal recrimination and there should be none." The president added, in a note to Representative Rayburn (D., Tex.), house majority leader, that the "question presented is solely one of policy." "The reorganization bill is intended to simplify and improve the public service," Mr. Roosevelt said. "With this single objective in view, I have given it my earnest approval."

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Stunned by the crushing revolt in the house against the reorganization bill, administration leaders today weighed a rising tide of congressional independence against five years of New Deal dominance and found President Roosevelt's program hanging in the balance.

The reorganization bill, urgently sought by President Roosevelt, was killed last night by the house by a vote of 204 to 196, which sends it back to committee for further study—a "pigeon-hole death."

Facing crucial issues over taxation, wages and hours, relief, and recovery, New Deal leaders were frankly fearful that congress may take the legislative program in its own hands for the balance of the session.

Scenting a new-found power, leading foes of the reorganization bill urged that congress immediately turn to a program designed to promote and help stem the tide of unemployment.

Voicing their sentiment, Rep. Pettingill (D., Ind) declared that "now is the time for congress to get together and enact constructive legislation to put people back in private employment."

The crushing administration defeat, which came after eight days of spectacular battling, marked on one side by an unprecedented volume of protests and on the other by powerful administration pressure, was the third major house revolt since congress was called back last November in special session.

Wage-Hour Bill Menaced.

An immediate effect of the vote was to imperil the wage-hours bill, which was crushed in the first big revolt in the special session. In another revolt, the house rejected the administration special penalty tax on family and closely held corporations.

The roll call of the re-organization bill recommittal showed 192 Democrats, one Progressive and three Farmer-Laborites standing for the bill. It showed 109 Democrats, 87 Republicans, six Progressives and two Farmer-Laborites opposing it. Twenty Democrats did not vote.

The roll call revealed:

1. A majority of the northwestern "Progressive bloc" breaking with the administration for the first time in three years on a major issue.

2. A split in the Democratic vote of many big city delegations on an administration bill.

3. A division among New Deal Progressives and a split among house leaders.

4. First important refusal of New Deal congress to delegate huge power to President Roosevelt.

The reorganization bill, which

Ashbrook Casts Vote To Shelve Measure

Congressman William A. Ashbrook, representing the 17th district which includes Richland county, was among the 16 Ohio house members who voted to shelve the reorganization bill. Seven Ohio representatives voted to keep the bill alive. Fourteen of those voting to kill the bill were Democrats.

'Heartening News,' Says Hoover Of House Rejection of Bill

SAN FRANCISCO—(INS)—"No more heartening news ever came to the American people than when the house of representatives, regardless of party, voted down the reorganization bill."

So declared Herbert Hoover in a homecoming speech here before 3,500 persons who jammed the War Memorial opera house to hear the former president's first address since his return from an extensive tour of Europe.

Shouts of "Hurrah for Hoover," and "We want Hoover" accompanied his brief remark on the fate of the governmental reorganization bill in congress. He saluted representatives who voted against the controversial measure, saying.

"Those men . . . ought to receive from us a vote of gratitude."

Devoting the greater part of his address to the unemployment problem in America, the former president placed the blame for the business recession on the doorstep of the Washington administration.

Restoration of "genuine self-respecting jobs in productive enterprises," is the government's first concern, he charged, adding that by that means only can fear be dispelled and confidence and prosperity restored.

Warning that "the direction that we are going in today is precisely that which in the end creates the demoralization from which fascism springs," he urged a rebirth of freedom of independence and initiative for business and industry.

Buying Rush Hits Market On Heels of Reorganization Vote

NEW YORK—(AP)—In the biggest opening buying rush in months, stocks were lifted $1 to more than $5 a share today.

Many blocks of 1,000 to 6,000 shares came out on the ticker tape in the scramble to buy leading shares right after the opening gong sounded over the exchange floor.

The wave of buying was attributed by brokers chiefly to the surprising defeat of the reorganization bill by the house, coming on the heels of reports of another impending federal spending drive to promote business recovery.

So heavy was the initial buying sweep, brokers on the floor had difficulty starting the market in some stocks.

Westinghouse Electric was flashed on the ticker at a bid price of $76 a share and an offering price of $82 before a trade finally was effected at $77,50, up $5.25 from the previous close.

American Telephone was $131 bid and $134 offered until a deal was arranged at $131.50, up more than $4.

Miss X Goes to Bermuda in Spring She Loves it, Now That She's Home

NEW YORK—It's a wonderful thing to get away from New York. Especially in April. Nothing deadlier than April in New York. It rains.

What I need, I said to myself one fine rainy morning, is a trip. A trip to the land of sunshine and palm trees and sparkling green water. A sea voyage. Adventure. Excitement. Even a little romance.

So I braved the teller at the savings bank, took my life savings, and confided, "I'm going to Bermuda."

The teller unbent and said, "Fine! You'll meet a lot of interesting people."

I thought so too. Even a few interesting people would satisfy me.

My friends came down to see me off It was raining. "Aren't you lucky," they gurgled. "And there are a lot of handsome men on board too. Look for one in a polo coat."

I agreed it was wonderful. I said goodbye cheerfully and promised postcards.

Then I walked around the deck to look the situation over. Lots of polo coats were going ashore. There didn't seem to be anything promising left when the gangplank went up. A few children, a few elderly ladies, and a few confetti-covered couples. Oh well, I philosophized, everybody will turn up at dinner.

By dinner time the ship was rolling. That means tossing sidewise. Also it was pitching. That means bobbing up and down from bow to stern. Pitching makes other people seasick.

Nothing makes me seasick. I was the second person in the dining room. I waited eagerly for my five table companions. A short, stocky man

Woman Asks Another Chance

By VIRGINIA LEE

A SECOND CHANCE is what most of us are granted when we do wrong. Some of us, indeed, are given chance after chance to make good the things we do that are not right. It is pretty tough if we find we have made a big mistake, we change our tactics, but find it is too late. We are not permitted to go back and have a chance to make good.

ONE OLD ENOUGH TO KNOW BETTER asks me not to print her letter. She feels the wreck of her marriage, with loss of husband and baby is her own fault, and she has trained herself to do better. But her husband will not answer her letters or let her see her child. She loves both, she says, and she has "prayed and prayed, but God must be angry with me too. I am trying to hope, but my mind is spinning, and I don't know where to turn," she writes.

In the first place, stop blaming yourself too harshly, my dear. That is as bad as pitying yourself too much. Instead of leaving you alone and ignoring the baby, as you say he did, your husband might have tried to show you where you were at fault, and maybe helped you to do better. It would also have been better if you two had had your own home and not shared his parents' place, as long as you were not dependent upon them financially. These are things for which you need not blame yourself.

Mistake to Leave.

It was a great mistake to leave, of course, but now that you have frankly acknowledged your faults and have corrected them, it seems to me your husband and his parents have no right to keep your baby from you and to prevent you from showing that you have improved. I suppose they do not believe that you have.

I don't believe God is angry with you. He is supposed to understand the human heart and help. Keep on doing what you know to be right. Whatever your work, do it well, and keep yourself sweet and clean morally as well as physically. And try to keep faith that if you do these things your life will be made happy again.

I have printed part of your letter hoping your husband and his people will see it and give you the chance to make good that you pray for.

West opened the bidding on this deal with 1-Spade, North overcalled with 2-Diamonds, South bid 2-No Trumps and North rebid his clubs at three.

The deal arose in a duplicate and the South player who scored the top figured the hand was not worth 5-Club, because of the fact that a spade would surely be led against the contract He stopped to reason that if North was strong enough to make a vulnerable overcall and then bid a second suit, the contract was probably safe at no trump. North held in the minors just bare aces and West had bid spades. Therefore, the chances were that North held some protection in hearts.

A spade was led against the 3-No Trump contract, and South succeeded in making four.

Where five clubs was bid, the contract was off one trick.

THEATER

GEORGE MURPHY, the dancer who made a terrific hit in "You're A Sweetheart," will be leading man for Shirley Temple in "Little Miss Broadway," her new picture. Murphy is the only dancer whose work gives Fred Astaire something to worry about. . . . Danielle Darrieux, who played the tragic Countess Vetsera in "Meyerling," is busy with "Rage of Paris" in which Douglas Fairbanks, jr., plays opposite her. Her face won't look so long in this American made film, because of a change in hairdress. . . . Dick Foran, cowboy who is breaking into straight features, will have a role in the important James Cagney-Pat O'Brien comedy "Boy Meets Girl," but he'll play a cowboy just the same. . . . Bette Davis, who returned to Warners after heavy artillery fire over roles, is "out" again because she refused to play another role she didn't think suitable.

"Jezebel."

This colorful and exciting romance of the Deep South shortly before the Civil war period, comes to the Ohio for the first half of the week, opening at the midnight matinee tonight. Bette Davis, whom many admirers believe should have had the role of Scarlett O'Hara in "Gone With The Wind" plays the tempetuous Julie of the Owen Davis, sr., stage play. She acquires the name of "Jezebel" because she behaves as no lady of the old South should have behaved — what with breaking hearts on a large scale, ruining a few lives, smoking, drinking juleps instead of sherry, and flying into unladylike rages. She has two lovers, a sedate and conservative young banker, played by Henry Fonda, and a reckless and rakish devil-may-care, played by George Brent. Others in the cast are Richard Cromwell, Margaret Lindsay, Donald Crisp, Fay Bainter, Spring Byington, and many others.

"Radio Revels."

New York City's famous Radio City is duplicated for the screen in "Radio Revels" the Madison theater offering for the first half of the week. Bob Burns, Kenny Baker and Jack Oakie top a list of stars which include Victor Moore, Helen Broderick, Milton Berle, Buster West, Ann Miller and Melissa Mason, eccentric dancer. The song hits featured are "Take A Tip From The Tulip," "Good Night Angel" and "Speak Your Heart." Hal Kemp's orchestra provides the musical background. Lovely Jane Froman of the air lanes, also makes an appearance. The story revolves around a three-way romance between Baker, Miss Miller and Oakie. Miss Broderick is seen as the younger woman's acid-tongued sister. Miss Miller, it will be recalled, was seen in "New Faces of 1937" and again as the dancing partner of Ginger Rogers in "Stage Door."

"Love, Honor and Behave."

Wayne Morris, the "Kid Galahad" at Warner Brothers, teams up with Priscilla Lane, the bundle of personality who was formerly with the Fred Waring band and then made her film debut in "Varsity Show," in "Love, Honor and Behave." The story was written by Stephen Vincent Benet for Saturday Evening Post under the title of "Everybody Was Very Nice." It concerns a couple of kids who grew up in a divorce atmosphere, and when they marry the rioting starts. Dick Foran, John Litel and Barbara O'Neil head the supporting cast. With this feature there is "Born To Be Wild," with Ralph Byrd, Doris Weston and Ward Bond. It's an action-filled yarn of two reckless truck drivers and a girl they meet along the way. Both features are offered at the Majestic for Sunday and Monday.

"Thin Ice."

Romance and royalty get mixed up in "Thin Ice," Sonja Henie's second starring vehicle in which the popular Tyrone Power is her co-star. The Ritz presents the picture for the first two days of the week. The locale is a hotel in the Swiss Alps, to which a prince, incognito, comes to meet the statesmen of rival countries. There is some talk of a pact, but the interest centers on the pretty little skating instructor and the youthful prince who pretends to be a reporter Arthur Treacher, Raymond Walburn, Joan Davis and Alan Hale are importantly cast. The second feature, with Frank Morgan, Florence Rice and John Beal, is "Beg, Borrow, or Steal" and depicts the tactics of a shady but thoroughly likeable character to secure a chateau and some sham nobility for his daughter's wedding.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

Mary gave me a quick, startled look as I told her that we would stick to our original menu instead of doubling it at her half humorous suggestion, and gave as my reason that we would have more time for "listening in."

I did not wonder at her incredulity. Only a few minutes before I had written a frantic appeal to her to leave the French restaurant, where we inadvertently had found ourselves in a dining booth adjacent to the one in which Dicky was seated with a person whose voice I recognized as that of the intoxicated woman who had called the Lansfield the night before and demanded to talk to "Dicky Graham."

It had seemed intolerable then to listen to my husband's conversation with this unknown woman when, because of the construction of the two corner booths, he had no chance of seeing us—or of hearing us because of Mary's clever ruse of disguising her voice, addressing me as "Aunt Cora" and insisting that I was too hoarse to talk. But now that Dicky had left the woman to eat the elaborately-ordered dinner alone, giving her contemptuous parting permission to ask anyone she pleased to share it with her, I had begun to believe that the hold she evidently had upon him was more sinister than sordid, as I at first had feared.

Dicky In Danger.

Dicky was in distinct danger of some sort! I was sure of it, and I know that Mary shared the fear, which had come to a head when the man with the suave "rounder" voice had come to the table vacated by Dicky and told the woman he had her "high sign" to come over and eat with her.

We had listened shamelessly after that to a colloquy which we did not understand in the least, but which gave us the impression that something sinister menaced Dicky, and Mary's startled expression changed to smiling approval as she comprehended that I had put my scruples against eavesdropping behind me with her uncle's departure.

"That's the stuff," she said enthusiastically, but in such muted tones that I was sure the two in the other booth could distinguish nothing of what she said. Both of us had substituted hushed speech for writing as soon as Dicky had left, for we were sure the woman was too absorbed in her own affairs, and too befuddled with liquor—Dicky had told her that she had "had plenty" when she importuned him for a drink—to pay any attention to any murmured conversation near her.

"With your memory," she went on, "we certainly shan't need any note books. But I think it is important that we remember everything, don't you?"

Unusual Memory.

I nodded, for I did not intend to utter any more words than were called for by the exigencies of the situation. The woman has heard my voice but once, but it had unpleasant memories for her, evidenced by the venom with which she had spoken of "his lady wife" to Dicky, instantly eliciting a brutal threat from him which had cowered her to temporary weakness.

But Mary's spontaneous tribute gave me the heady thrill which comes only with recognition of something which one does unusually well. I knew that, thanks to my mother's early training, my memory was somewhat unusual and remarkable, and I rejoiced that by using it carefully, while listening to the colloquy in the other booth, I would be able to reproduce every word the man and woman should utter.

"Yum! yum!" The objective of Mary's enthusiastic praise switched from me to the food before her. "Will I remember these escargots! Let's hope our neighbors will be so absorbed in their menu they'll forget to talk for a while. I'd like to savor to the full that coquille St. Jacques I see coming."

My Neighbor Says:

If there is a constant smell of burning when cooking is going on, examine gas burners. They are probably filled with sediment from "boilovers."

BELMONT PARK SELECTED AS SITE FOR RICH MATCH RACE

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK—(INS)—Right briskly, considering the amount of prestige, money and vanity involved, it has been agreed overnight that War Admiral, beau ideal of the Atlantic coast, and Seabiscuit, pride of the Pacific, are to engage here at Belmont Park in probably the greatest two-horse race of all the ages, some time between September 15 and October 1 next.

It all came about late yesterday when Sam Riddle, owner of the Admiral, arrived in town, listened carefully to what John Hertz, of Arlington Park, Chicago, had to suggest and then did something else. He, in fact, went over to the office of chairman Swope, of the New York commission, and closed for Belmont Park in September—and for a purse of $100,000.

Mr. Hertz also offered a hundred thousand, but his dates were wrong—from Mr. Riddle's standpoint—and so were his ideas. He wanted the race during the July meeting in Chicago and he also wished to include Stagehand as an added starter, provided the latter won the Kentucky derby. Mr. Riddle is a dignified and elderly man, but naturally he ran very rapidly away from that one.

The scale weight for three-year-olds in July is 114 pounds and if Stagehand, after winning the Santa Anita, was also good enough to win the derby, he'd be just too good at 114 pounds

UNDER the agreed conditions, it will be Seabiscuit and the Admiral at the September weight of 126 pounds each and the event will be held at the derby route of 1¼ miles, recognized as a test of distance in this country. The real distance, for the promoters, will be the next five months, considering all the things that can happen to a horse race and a race horse even in five minutes.

C. S. Howard already has accepted the match here pretty much without reservations, so that Riddle's answer yesterday was the vital factor. The Admiral, said he, would be ready under practically any conditions and he even indicated a willingness to be generous.

He said he was willing to have the race run only on a fats track which, as suggestions go, was top hole, considering the fact that the Biscuit is not so good in the mud. Mr. Riddle tehn said that he was willing to give Mr Howard the choice of pole positions, which sounds almost magnanimous until you recall that post positions mean nothing in a two-horse race.

MR. RIDDLE then emulated the well known Greek in the act of bearing the well known gifts, for he sneaked under the wire with a third suggestion, viz:

That the management dispense with stall gates and standing starts and, instead, use the old fashioned break, known as the walk-up start. Briefly, the Admiral is notoriously bad at the barrier and it seems worthy of note that when this particular suggestion was brought to Mr Howard's notice out there in San Francisco, he smiled briefly—perhaps even a little coldly, replying thus:

"War Admiral has quite a bit of early speed, I think."

And in case anybody still cares what I think, I certainly think it will be a great occasion—if it ever takes place.

Jimmy's Lunches, Sports Win Titles

Waiters Annex A Crown by Defeating Marion; Yuncker Team Gains B Toga In Y Tourney.

By CHARLES MARTIN

JIMMY'S LUNCHES and the Junior Yuncker Sports ran off with top honors in the finals of the Gold Medal basketball tournament at the Y. M. C. A. last night before a fair-sized crowd.

The quintets, pre-tourney favorites to annex the division championships, lived up to the predictions in spectacular fashion in a pair of free-scoring tilts.

Jimmy Breres' towering Lunchmen finished in a blaze of glory by defeating a fighting Ralph's Snappy Service club of Marion, 49 to 40, in Class A, while the Junior Sports ran rough-shod over the touted Rex Billiards, 47 to 26, in the Class B affair.

Tom Farrell and Noel Morgan played brilliant roles to lead their respective teams to victory.

Sets Scoring Record.

Farrell established a new individual single game scoring record with 24 points to lead the Lunches in the "A" division, and Morgan accomplished the same feat in Class B by tallying 23 points to pace the sharpshooting Sports.

The Class A champions closed with a rush to topple the Marion club. After getting off to what looked like a comfortable lead, the Lunches suddenly slowed down, and the Snappy Service team instantly became a fast-charging machine which outplayed the winners through the second and third quarters.

But with Marion leading, 34 to 30, going into the final frame, the Lunchmen began to locate the bucket with regularity to collect 19 points to come out on top.

The Lunches led, 18 to 10, in the opening period, 24 to 23, at the half Greene was the man who kept Marion in the game, collecting 18 points to pace his club. He scored 14 of the points in the last half.

Lead All the Way.

The Junior Sportsmen had things well under control against the Billiards. After grabbing a 13 to 8 advantage in the initial stanza, the champions went wild and while holding the Cuemen to a pair of free throws, waltzed into a 20 to 10 lead at halftime

"Frappy" Underwood's Billiards outscored the winners in the third chapter, 12 to 10, but went into the final frame on the short end of a 30 to 22 score

It was at this point that Bob Martin's Juniors really went to town. Limiting the Cuemen to two baskets, the Sports rang up 17 points to ice the tilt Kenny Lockhart led the losers with 10 points Bob Bogantz, who Thursday night scored 19 points, accounted for only three last night.

In the Class B consolation affair, the Mansfield Queen Bees eked out a thrilling 28 to 27 decision over the Ashland Y M C A outfit, while in the Class A consolation tilt, the Lakewood Merchants pulled a surprise by upsetting the dangerous Galion Barbers, 30 to 26. Besides the awards presented to the champions and their managers, and the runner-up, special prizes were awarded the consolation teams, and to the single game high scorer, tournament high scorer, best all around player in each division, and to players who were picked on the all-star team Wins Scoring Honors.

Morgan walked off with the individual honors in Class B. The former Mansfield high ace received medals for single game high score of 23 points, tournament high score of 46 points, and best all-around player award.

In Class A, Farrell won the single game award with 24 points, while Greene of Ralph's Snappy Service club, copped the tournament high scoring title with 48 points, and Delnore Goldsmith of the Galion Barbers, was adjudged the best all-around performer.

Dickson's Horses Work Out on Columbus Track; Others Drill at Fairground Here.

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

RICHLAND county's fairground located out Springmill street, is not exactly deserted these days.

Four harness and running stables are quartered there at present, and trainers are busily engaged preparing their charges for the early meetings.

George Reynolds is working three head of sulky pullers. His stable includes a 2-year-old colt by Volo Peter, owned by Roy Dickson, a 4-year-old trotter, full sister to the great Grace Crispin 2 02½, and Helen Chan, 2:12¼, a pacer.

Charlie Rogers is training a pair of pacers at the fairground and Neil Eggerton is working Crystal Baldwin, 2.12¼, the old pacer Elmer May once raced.

There are five head of runners at the Fairground

THE majority of Roy Dickson's horses are in training with Wayne Smart's large stable at the state fairground in Columbus.

Dickson's trotters are Grace Crispin, 2:02½, champion green trotter of the past season; Frisco Watts, 2:05, a fast and dead-game 5-year-old stallion; King Vagabond 2, 2:09, now four, and Southern Girl, 2:06¾.

The pacers: Lin Grattan 3, 2:07¾; Lou Scott, a 2-year-old by Red Ace, 2:10½, and Louise Dillon, 2:27½, dam of seven better than 2:08.

Lin Grattan who has not raced for a couple of years, is said to have an exceptionally attractive yearling by Bert Abbe by Bert Abbe, 1 59¼

Dickson's rugged, promising 2-year-old trotter by Protector 3 1 59¾, has also been shipped to Columbus.

Sammy Hale Rejoins Tribe, Ready To Go

Vitt Plans to Use Veteran Infielder In Exhibition at Meridian Today.

MERIDIAN, Miss.—(UP)—After three weeks at Hot Springs, Ark., Sammy Hale, veteran infielder, rejoined the Cleveland Indians here today and pronounced himself in physical condition to play.

Hale was sent to the Arkansas spa to boil poison out of his system in an attempt to return a "dead" throwing arm to normal.

"For the first time in two years there is no pain in my arm," Hale said. "I haven't been cutting loose in the drills I took with the Milwaukee team at Hot Springs, but I'm convinced the arm is as good as ever"

Manager Oscar Vitt planned to test Hale today in an exhibition game against Meridian of the Cotton States league. The game scheduled between the Indians and New York Giants yesterday at Monroe, La., was cancelled because of wet grounds.

In addition to Hale, another ailing player was to rejoin the Tribe here. He was Jeff Heath, Rookie outfielder, who was left in New Orleans when the team broke camp Heath has been suffering with a stomach disorder.

With Hale back in harness to play second base, Vitt altered his batting order. Hale will hit third behind Lyn Lary and whoever wins the rightfield berth. Moose Solters will bat fourth; Earl Averill fifth Hal Trosky sixth; the rookie Ken Keltner seventh; and then the catcher and the pitcher.

While the Indians were idle yesterday, Manager Vitt worked on a report ordered by Judge Kenesaw M. Landis Landis ordered Vitt to explain why he ordered his team from the field after an argument with the umpires in a game Wednesday at Longview, Tex.

Bobby Jones Not To Return to Play

ATLANTA, Ga. — (U P) — Robert Tyre Jones, jr., retired golf king, has no intention of returning to active competition. Jones said today he though modification of the United States Golf association rules "might be a good thing for the game," but emphasized that "under no circumstances will I resume the status of a regular competitor."

"In reference to reports regarding competition in the 1938 open championship at Denver, Col., Jones said he "regretted sincerely" that he had been misunderstood.

Liederkranz Club Leads Mansfield A.B.C. Teams

Traveling League Entry, Led by Ritter's 609, Paces Ohioans' Scoring With 2759 Total.

By MORT LUBY

CHICAGO—As far as the five-man event is concerned, Mansfield, O., bowling representatives will figure lightly in the distribution of the American Bowling Congress prizes.

The last four of five Mansfield teams entered in the national classic took to the alleys last night, and the best total was a 2759 by the Liederkranz club Traveling league entry.

This was one of the better counts rolled on last night's shifts, but it did not take the Liederkranz keglers into the heavy money class.

Roll 2703 Total.

The Miller Oldsmobiles punished the uprights for a 2703 total, while the Liederkranz club's City league bowlers rolled out a 2533. The Metcalf Pure Oils trailed with a low 2470.

The leading Liederkranz club increased its score in each game. Starting out with a 906, the Mansfielders hit 909 in the middle game and finished with a 944.

The only Mansfield bowler to go above 600 last night, Clyde Ritter socked out a 609 from games of 214, 177 and 218 to lead the Liederkranz club.

Miller's Oldsmobiles got off to a good start with a 933, but wilted, finishing with 899 and 871. Clarence (Sonny) Meder rapped out a 595 for the Olds.

The Mansfield keglers will roll their doubles and singles today.

Only Excitement.

About the only excitement created on the alleys last night was accounted for by June Riley of Kansas City. Riley registered nine straight strikes. In the 10th frame, a bad hit left the No. 4 and 8 pins standing. Riley missed them completely to end his game with an error and 264 pins.

Ohio Tankers In AAU Lead

Enter Last Half of Meet With 13 Points to Good.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— A determined Ohio State university swimming team entered the second half of the National A. A. U. meet today with a 25 to 12 lead over its nearest contender Michigan, and appeared slated to win the coveted title.

The Buckeyes, despite their big lead, were treading dangerous water, however, because they shot their strongest wad yesterday in the low board diving, 400-yard relay, 220-yard breast stroke, and the individual 300-yard medley swim

Defending champion Al Patnik retained his crown in the low board diving event with a score of 148 19 The relay team captured its event, surprisingly enough, over the favored Michigan quartet in the astonishing time of 3 31.5, one-tenth of a second under the world's record.

Higgins finished second in the 220-yard breast stroke and third in the individual medley to give the Bucks several points.

New A. A. U. champs crowned last night were Ralph Flanagan, who copped the 220-yard free style, displacing Charles Hutter of Harvard, and Andy Clark, Chicago, unattached, who took the individual medley title from Higgins. The State relay team succeeded Michigan as tops in that event.

Brotherhood Honors Team

Nine members and a manager of the Springfield township high school cage club, winner of the county league title and runner-up in the tournament, were awarded letters at the annual banquet staged in their honor by the Men's Brotherhood of the Ontario Community church at the church last night.

The players honored were Dick Casad, Carl Laubscher, Henry Bookwalter, Sam Miller, Robert Fink, all seniors; Matt Hager, Tom Hudson, Dave Prion and Henry Hager. Albert Baker was the manager honored.

L. C. Stingel, superintendent of the school, served as toastmaster. Approximately 140 attended the banquet at which C. E. Van Sycle of Ohio Wesleyan was the principal speaker. Other speakers were Coach Orville Kibler and Casad. Louis Rinehart was chairman of the committee which arranged the banquet.

Card Not Completed For Monday's Show

Outside of the Alabama Kid of Columbus, recognized as the colored middleweight champion of the world, the principals for the boxing card to be staged by the Quality club at the Armory Monday night have not been announced. Promoter Tim Nolan has been out of the city this week.

Reserves Bow To Bucyrus

Completely Outclassed By Redmen Varsity, 82-36.

Winning only two firsts and sharing another, the reserve trackmen of Mansfield high school went down to defeat before the Bucyrus varsity, 82 to 36, in their first dual meet staged under very unfavorable weather conditions yesterday.

Tom Scott accounted for one of the Mansfield firsts by leaping nine feet, six inches to take the pole vault. Mansfield made a clean sweep in the vault.

James Lemunyon won the 220-yard dash for Mansfield in 25.2 seconds, and Bill Harmon obtained a tie with Deaver of Bucyrus for the win in the high jump.

Donnenwirth and Gebbhardt were outstanding for Bucyrus. The former rung up firsts in the 100 and 440 and raced with the winning mile relay team.

Gebbhardt took first in both hurdles and was a member of the winning 880 yard relay team.

100-yd dash: Won by Donnenwirth, Bucyrus; LeMunyon, Mansfield, second; Beall, Bucyrus, third. Time: 11 sec.

REORGANIZATION VOTE IN HOUSE HITS PRESIDENT

New Deal Suffers Rebuff In Bill's Defeat; Roosevelt Program In Balance.

passed the senate by a seven-vote margin, was sought by Mr. Roosevelt on the ground that it was necessary to bring efficiency into the vast government machine and to reclaim lost executive power.

It was fought on the ground that it contained a surrender of congressional power and thus stood as a precedent which might lead toward dictatorial government.

Bitter foes of the measure charged that once the bill were passed so much power would be lodged in the presidency that any president could perpetuate himself in office and reduce congress to a state of subserviency.

The decisive vote came in the house after both Speaker Bankhead and Democratic Leader Rayburn took the floor to declare that the issue was a vote of confidence, or lack of confidence, in President Roosevelt.

O'Connor Differs.

Rep. John J. O'Connor, New York's Democratic Irishman with a Harvard accent and one of the "big three" of the house leadership, hotly denied this statement. Pointing to his own loyalty to the president on many issues, he insisted that the original reorganization program had already been shattered by house leaders through changes and concessions.

In the final drive for votes recognized house leaders took an unusual step. They joined with patronage-hungry Democrats in approving the Fuller amendment which overrode an executive order issued by President Roosevelt himself, requiring selection of postmasters on the basis of merit.

Leaders apparently voted for the provision in the expectation of winning votes of wavering Democrats. This action brought a sharp statement from Rep. Ramspeck (D) of Georgia.

'Confirms Suspicion.'

"This just confirms my suspicion that the civil service provisions of the bill, which don't follow the president's recommendation are intended to set up a patronage administrator."

Speaker Bankhead said to the house:

"If you defeat this bill you will see headlines across the newspapers saying that the house had repudiated the president of the United States.

"Let us say to that man down there in the White House that we have confidence in his integrity and character."

Rep. Rayburn said:

"Can we afford to say to the people of the United States that the president is no longer the leader of congress?"

O'Connor replied:

"I do not believe that the issue of the president enters into this. We now have a system that has worked well for 150 years. This is an attempt to compel congress to surrender rights."

With the bill perished Mr. Roosevelt's proposal to establish a new department of welfare with a cabinet officer at the head. The proposed department, which WPA administrator Harry L. Hopkins reportedly would have headed, would have administered all relief and coordinated activities. Strong opposition to the new department admittedly was a weighty factor in defeat of the bill.

Chance for Revival.

While the house vote, for all practical purposes, killed reorganization legislation, there still was a possibility that it could be revived.

The house last year passed and sent to the senate, which has not acted upon it, a reorganization bill which carried most of the wide grants of power contained in the bill defeated yesterday. Explaining reversal of the house position from its passage of this measure foes of reorganization insisted that growing fear by the people of dictatorships, and changed economic conditions, were responsible for the new attitude.

West Works In Vain to Save Bill.

Charles West, one-time 17th Ohio district representative, now under-secretary of the interior, "went into the trenches" yesterday to try to avert the defeat of the reorganization bill by the house, but his best efforts failed to alter the final result.

Not much has been heard of West in recent months, since he was virtually "fired" by Secretary Ickes, but previous to that time he was regarded as one of the president's close advisers, and was liaison man between the house and the chief executive.

There was a stir of excitement on the floor of the house yesterday, according to Washington dispatches, when Representative Michale Stack, Pennsylvania Democrat, said, "My old friend Charley West is down in the house restaurant bragging that he's turned 20 votes for the bill."

Men Students Say Co-Eds Go To College 'To Marry Us.'

LINCOLN, Neb.—(AP)—Barbara Rosewater, staff member of the Daily Nebraskan, student newspaper at the University of Nebraska, asked this question of 15 "representative" men students:

"Why do co-eds go to college?"

The most common answer, she said, was:

"To marry us."

HELD TO JURY

Richland Man Bound Over After Pleading Guilty to Forgery.

On his plea of guilty in municipal court today to a charge of forgery, Henry Morgenstirn, R. D. 2, Lexington, was bound over to the grand jury under $2,000 bond.

Morgenstirn was arrested at his home yesterday by Deputy Sheriff J. R. Hetler, on a warrant filed by Carl W. Horchler, Washington township, an employe of Schmutzler's restaurant, North Park street. Horchler said he had cashed a check for $118, tendered by Morgenstirn, and drawn on the First National bank of Greenwich. It was signed by a Joe Palmer, which Horchler charged was a forgery.

LIKES BERMUDA IN THE SPRING

That Is, She Wishes She Were Back There After Getting Home From Cruise.

came first. He was going to Bermuda for his health. Born and raised in Hell's Kitchen, he said, I choked over the soup.

He asked me whether his pistol would get by the customs officials at Hamilton. I told him I never had taken a pistol to Bermuda. He laughed loudly and said, "You and I are going to get along fine, sister."

Two girls joined us. I was relieved. They introduced themselves, took one look at the soup, and left.

"Seasick," said the man from Hell's Kitchen.

A man with thinning hair appeared. He didn't speak English well, but he smiled constantly. He was going to Bermuda to play all the golf courses. He pronounced it "goll-uff."

The sixth member of our group never appeared. I finished my dinner quickly and went up on deck. It was too rough to dance. It was too rough to walk the open deck. The closed deck looked like a hospital ship. People in deck chairs were munching apples and celery. Seasickness cure, said the deck steward.

It was 9:30. I decided to go to bed. It might be calmer tomorrow.

It wasn't. It was rough. I wrote letters. I read an entire novel. I went down late to meals and avoided my friend from Hell's Kitchen.

We docked at Hamilton the next morning. It was beautifully clear. I revived. Here were the sunshine and palm trees. Any minute the interesting people might appear.

As the week went on, I made the following deductions:

Only the very old and the very young can afford to travel. The rest of the world is busy making money for them to spend.

Bermuda is a wonderful place in which to recuperate. Half the trade seemed to be derived from people recovering from broken legs and dangerous operations.

Rum swizzles are all very well, but you can get just as good ones in New York.

I gave up looking for excitement. I decided I had come to Bermuda to recuperate, too. I subsided into a routine of sunshine, fresh air and five meals a day.

I bought a calendar with beautiful views of Bermuda on it, and eagerly began to check off the days. Three more days, and I would be starting back to New York. Two more days . . . and so on.

I was up at dawn the morning we steamed into New York Harbor. I hung over the rail as the Statue of Liberty came into view. I was first in line when the immigration authorities came on board. I was on the dock before most of the passengers had finished breakfast. I was at the office as fast as the taxi would take me.

There I found the boss, wearing his Monday morning face. I started through a pile of memos from him to me, plus clippings and accumulated letters. Outside it was raining.

My colleagues gathered round.

"What a wonderful sunburn you have! Did you have a grand time? Don't you wish you were back there?"

"Yes," I said. "I certainly do." And I did.

DEDICATE NEW CHURCH BOOKS

Service To Be Held Sunday Morning at Central M. E. Church.

A dedication service for the new church hymn books recently purchased by the Central Methodist church, will be held Sunday morning at the 10:30 service.

The dedicatory address will be given by Dr. Robert G. McCutchan, Greencastle, Ind., editor of the Hymnal and dean of the DePauw university school of music.

Dr. McCutchan is nationally known as the leader of assemblies at Mountain Lake Park, Md., and Wynona Lake, Ind., and was selected as editor of the Hymnal, officially adopted by the Methodist Episcopal, Methodist Episcopal South, and Methodist Protestant churches.

Dr. McCutchan will also speak at the Epworth League service at 6:30 p. m., and will lead in an informal service of song and interpretation at 7:30 p. m. His subject at the Epworth League meeting will be, "The Spirit of Youth in the Methodist Hymnal."

DRIVERS FINED

2 Land In Court For Speeding In School Zones.

Two Mansfield drivers, the first to be arrested in Police Chief Meade K. Bates' drive against speeding and reckless driving in school zones, today paid fines of $15 each in municipal court when they pleaded guilty.

John Lelle, Ohio avenue, was charged by police with driving a truck at 40 miles an hour through the West Fifth street school zone, scene of an accident early this week in which a schoolgirl was struck by an automobile while on her way home from school. Lelle admitted the charge.

Edward G. Knoll, Country Club drive, was arrested on Springmill street yesterday where police charged he was traveling 65 miles an hour through the school zone. He entered a guilty plea and paid a fine of $15 and costs.

La Guardia Peaks Out Window, Saves New York $320,000

NEW YORK — (INS) — Mayor La Guardia looked out a window and saved the city $320,000 it was revealed today.

It seems that weather experts looked for a continuation of the freak snowstorm which began Wednesday and held that snow removal workers, costing the city $20,000 an hour, should be kept on the payroll for another 16 hours at least.

The mayor looked out of his office window.

"It won't last," he said, "it will turn to rain," and it did and the city saved $320,000 because on the mayor's orders the snow removal gangs had been dismissed.

ASHLAND HOST TO HI-Y GROUPS

Mansfield Clubs To Send 10 To District Session Sunday.

Ten Hi-Y club members from Mansfield are expected to go to Ashland tomorrow to attend a conference of the 15th District Hi-Y council at the Ashland Y. M. C. A.

The conference begins at 2:30 p. m. and will be in charge of Robert Tobias of Mansfield, council president, and president of the State Hi-Y council.

Plans will be discussed at the meeting for a district conference of all Hi-Y clubs to be held in Mansfield this spring. Other cities in the district are Galion, Ashland, Crestline, Mt. Vernon, Fredericktown, Wooster, Orrville and Mt. Gilead.

MEETINGS OFF

Y. W. Calls Off Program Because of Holy Week.

Because of Holy Week, all classes and regular group meetings at the Y. W. C. A. have been called off for next week Miss Margaret West, executive secretary, said today.

Two committee meetings will be held, however, the nominating committee, of which Miss Emma Waring is chairman, meeting at 2 p. m. Monday, and the public affairs committee, under the leadership of Mrs. Russell Cline, meeting at 7 p. m. Thursday.

Beta Epsilon will hold an Easter worship service at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday. Miss West will be the speaker. Others taking part in the service will be Kay Johnson, Dorothy Thomas, Mrs. Miriam Simmons as leader, and Louise Hasenzahl in charge of the music.

ELKS TO DINE MONDAY

A dinner and entertainment for members of the Mansfield Lodge of Elks will be held Monday evening at the lodge home. Dinner will be served at 7:30 and will be followed by a program of music and songs by Clarence Knisley, state treasurer, and his orchestra of Columbus.

1,300 SEE OPERETTA GIVEN BY SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

A lively and colorful operetta, which crowded the stage with "Indians" and "cowboys," was presented twice yesterday by a cast of 22 Mansfield Senior high school pupils in the high school auditorium. The entire cast, including the chorus, required 64 students.

Directed by J. Merton Holcombe, supervisor of band and vocal music at the school, afternoon and evening performances of the production, "The Bells of Capistrano," were witnessed by more than 1,300 persons. The afternoon audience was made up largely of school pupils.

Holcombe directed an 18-piece orchestra, selected from the membership of the regular high school orchestra, during the two-hour performance.

With June Statler and Harold Duda in the lead roles in the afternoon and Kathleen MacIntosh and Duda carrying the leads in the evening, the cast did a capable job of presenting the story which had its setting on a ranch in the southwest where Indians were troublesome in demanding the return of land they believed had been stolen from them.

Willis Lewis, who acquitted himself ably in the last Red Masque production, "Icebound," turned vocalist in the operetta last night as the bravado leader of the cowboys.

Other leading vocal roles were taken by Paul Davis, who played the cowboy leader at the matinee performance; Willis Wygant as the Indian medicine man; Harriett Johnston as the Indian maiden; Grace Honse, Harlan Hedrick, Wilton Morkel, Anna Jane Lloyd, Josephine Hughes, Ralph Arlin, and others.

Comedy was provided by Mary Alice Mead as the Chinese cook; who finally rang the "Bells of Capastrino" and broke the Indian spell, bringing about a happy ending for the play. Her part was entirely in pantomime.

DIES AT GALION

Mrs. Mabel Disgusky To Be Buried at Plymouth Sunday.

GALION—Mrs. Mabel Disgusky, 70, wife of Charles Disgusky of 22 South Pierce street, died Friday in the Good Samaritan hospital. She had been bedfast for six weeks.

The deceased was born in Trenton, N. J., Nov. 27, 1867, the daughter of Robert and Amanda (Tideback) DeGray. She was first married to Ira Carson who died nine years ago. Her second marriage in 1932 was to Charles Disgusky who survives. She had lived in Galion six years, coming here from Shelby. She was a member of the Daughters of America of Shelby, and the United Brethren church of Tiro.

Surviving besides her husband are: a son, Charles O. May of Shelby; three grandchildren, four great grandchildren, and two sisters, Mrs. Olmire Skeen of Shelby and Mrs. Nora Messimer of Mansfield.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Snyder funeral home here. Burial will be made in Greenlawn cemetery, Plymouth.

A Farmer's Diary

April 8.

IT IS nearly twenty years ago now, since I planted in my backyard what I thought was a special variety of early pear tree. It was a sturdy, promising young tree and I debated whether or not I ought to cut down a group of three seedling elm sprouts about ten feet away, to give it more room to grow. However I put off destroying the elm, for it was putting up a brave fight for its life.

To my mind, there was always a distinct personality to that pear tree. It was proud and grasping, with a sordid, dwarfed outlook. It grew great numbers of gnarled, thorny branches, and it was grudging even with its shade. When the dog lay under it to cool off in hot weather, it never failed to pull hair out of his back.

One year it bore a crop of small, bronzy fruit. I tasted one, and spat it out with a wry face and the remark, "Brrr! That's sour enough to make a pig squeal!" My small boy heard the remark and five minutes later I saw him down by the pigpen, putting hard brown pears into the trough—to check my veracity.

Meanwhile, the elm stretched up and up. Its triple trunk grew straight and high. Every year its shade became more rgacious. its strong, graceful, curving branches more to be admired. Songbirds frequented its friendly top. Last year a Baltimore oriole hung his nest there, and swung all summer long.

Yesterday, while the ice storm burdened it, the elm swayed in the wind, its arched branches strained beneath their load. The compact brambly pear tree, sneered and scoffed and even hoped it might break. But the elm was bothered not at all.

For of these two, the elm is full-grown and normal. Its huge, spreading top is open to the sky. Its roots reach deep down to the rocky depths of the good earth and draw its vital stream from the heart of things. "Its leaf does not wither; it brings forth its fruit in its season."

I pity the pear tree. It seems to have so little cause for being.

T.B. FIGHT AT HALFWAY MARK

National Official Asserts Clinics Here One Method Of Combatting Disease.

Ohio has reached the halfway mark, in its fight against tuberculosis, Dr. William A. Doppler, health education consultant of the National Tuberculosis association of New York City asserted at the Women's club yesterday.

Dr. Doppler has been in Ohio for the past week for a series of district meetings. Representatives from several counties, including officers of tuberculosis associations and Health Seal committees were present, with Mrs. H. C. Brokaw, Shelby, president of the Richland County Tuberculosis association, presiding.

Dr. Doppler said that Ohio has passed the halfway mark because it has one source of infection under control; every county in the state has legislation compelling tuberculine tests for milk-giving animals.

"But children can still become affected through the milk of tubercular mothers and other sources, and it is on these that the fight must center," he said.

"The tuberculosis clinic, such as Richland county has is one method of searching out and eventually isolating tubercular persons. But when a person begins to feel so badly that he voluntarily seeks out a clinic, he is so far advanced ordinarily that it may possibly take two or three years to cure him.

"The time to stop tuberculosis is at a stage long before a person has any reason to believe he has it. Taken then, a month or a few months of rest will effect a cure The best safeguard is to have, through general practice, a regular test, every year or so, and the only sure test is an x-ray."

One of the most effective methods of curbing the development of tuberculosis in a community, Dr. Doppler pointed out, is tuberculine tests in schools and checks on all possible contacts of persons who have it.

HEARS LAWYER

Youth Forum Has Clevelander for Speaker Tomorrow.

Atty. Arthur J. Hudson, patent lawyer of Cleveland, will address members of the Community Youth Forum, meeting at 6 p. m. Sunday at the Park Avenue Baptist church.

Atty. Hudson will speak on the subject, "The Call of Christ To Modern Youth." He will be accompanied by his son, Jay Hudson, who is president of the Baptist Young Peoples' Union of America.

Sunday's meeting of the Forum will be a Lenten worship service in preparation for Easter Sunday. Musical numbers will be presented by the Senior high school A Capella choir under the direction of J. Merton Holcombe, and Lawrence S. Frank, organist at the church.

The fellowship and business sessions will begin at 6 p. m., followed at 7 p. m. by the talk by Atty. Hudson. The program will be in charge of the young people of the Baptist church assisted by Charles Atwell, chairman of the Youth Forum.

DISABLED VETS MEET IN CAPITAL

Mansfielders to Attend Central Zone Conference Sunday.

Several members of the Mansfield chapter No. 21, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, are expected to go to Columbus Sunday to attend a central zone conference of the organization.

Sessions will begin at 10:30 a. m. and continue through the afternoon. The morning session will be conducted as a rehabilitation school, with Bernard Southard, state director of rehabilitation of the Ohio department in charge.

Gov. Martin L. Davey is scheduled to address the conference at the afternoon session which will begin at 1:30.

Among the Mansfield delegates planning to attend are Eugene C. Miller, adjutant, Jacob Grey, commander, and Morton Smith, service officer.

SPEED UTILITY LINE REPAIRS

Crews Rush Work In County As Early Victory For Spring Over Cold Spell Is Seen.

manager of the Mansfield Telephone company, said the loss would be "tremendous." All repair crews of the company were busy today and will work Sunday to put lines back in service.

Service at Butler, where telephones have been out of order for two days due to a power failure, was restored last night, but only half of the county's damaged toll lines had been repaired today.

Wittemire estimated that 1,000 phones are still out of service, including a number in Mansfield, and 250 lines to private homes will require rebuilding because of the destruction by ice.

While the state highway patrol reported that 29 highways are closed in the state, all were reported open in Richland and Knox counties. In many places, however, streams which had spread over lowlands following the heavy rain threatened to inundate roads in Richland county.

County Agent George B. Ganyard said the extent of damage to fruit crops as a result of the ice storm could not be estimated in the county. He added, however, that it is doubtful if the damage is great, except to early varieties of cherries.

Loss will result mainly from the "smothering" of fruit buds from the heavy ice rather than from low temperatures, he said. Many orchards suffered heavy damage from broken limbs and trees shattered by the ice.

Flood waters threatened vast areas in Alabama, Indiana, and western Ohio when melting snow and heavy rainfall pushed rivers and creeks out of their banks.

The worst blizzard in 20 years swept across the Texas panhandle, claiming at least a half dozen lives.

TAKE HONORS

Senior High Victor In Ashland Dramatic Contest.

Mansfield High school won first prize yesterday in the dramatic contests for high schools of this area at Ashland college.

Six schools competed with one act plays. They were from Ashland, Apple Creek, Lucas, Plymouth, Congress and Mansfield. The contests were sponsored by the dramatic department of Ashland college.

Earl Heasley, director of dramatics at Senior High, staged the Mansfield play, which was "Sky Fodder," a dramatic sketch of three World war aviators stranded in a swamp after a crackup. Three senior students taking part were Harold Loesch, Don Speakman and Willis Lewis. Each member of the winning group was presented with a $25 scholarship, applicable to any department at Ashland college.

Apple Creek placed second, and Ashland third in the contest.

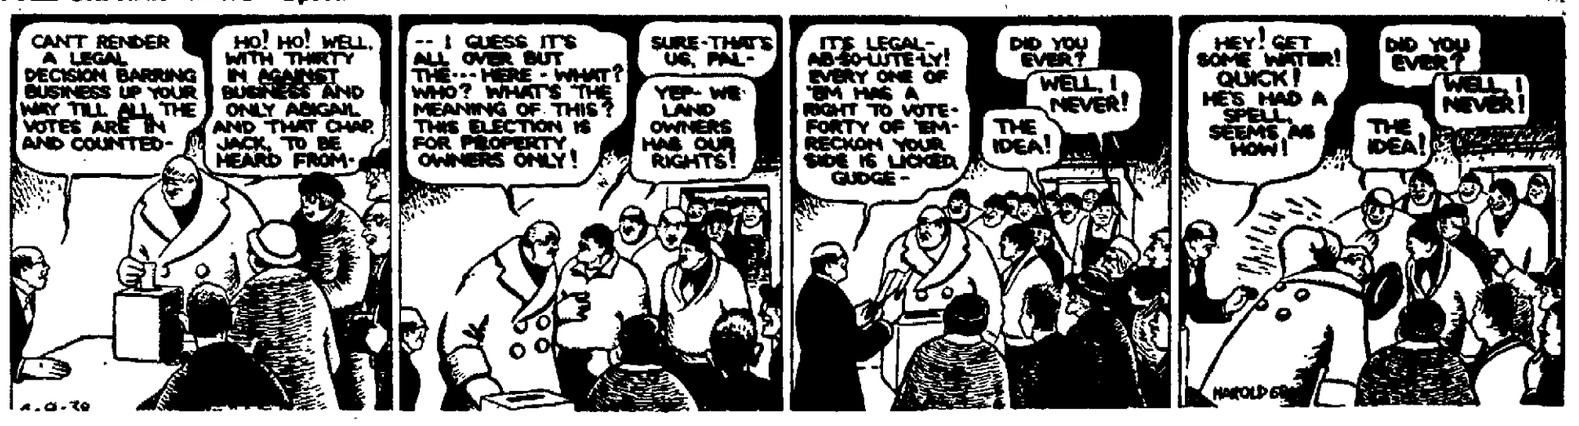
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—Upset. By Harold Gray



CAN'T RENDER A LEGAL DECISION BARRING BUSINESS UP YOUR WAY TILL ALL THE VOTES ARE IN AND COUNTED-
HO! HO! WELL WITH THIRTY IN AGAINST BUSINESS AND ONLY ABIGAIL AND THAT CHAP JACK, TO BE HEARD FROM-
-- I GUESS IT'S ALL OVER BUT THE--- HERE - WHAT? WHO? WHAT'S THE MEANING OF THIS? THIS ELECTION IS FOR PROPERTY OWNERS ONLY!
SURE-THAT'S US, PAL-
YEP- WE LAND OWNERS HAVE OUR RIGHTS!
IT'S LEGAL-AB-SO-LUTE-LY! EVERY ONE OF 'EM HAS A RIGHT TO VOTE-FORTY OF 'EM-RECKON YOUR SIDE IS LICKED, GUDGE-
DID YOU EVER?
WELL, I NEVER!
THE IDEA!
HEY! GET SOME WATER! QUICK! HE'S HAD A SPELL, SEEMS AS HOW!
DID YOU EVER?
WELL, I NEVER!
THE IDEA!

THE REBBS—Muggins. By Sol Hess

HOW YOU DOING, RUDY?
I DONT HAVE TO DO-THIS GUY MUGGINS IS DOING IT FOR ME
YOU CERTAINLY GOT SOME PLANT HERE. DID YOU EVER GET LOST IN IT?
THE FIRST HOUSE BUILT IS NEVER SATISFACTORY. WE'VE GOT TOO MUCH OF WHAT WE DONT WANT AND TOO LITTLE OF WHAT WE NEED
NOW I FEEL AT HOME, TAYLOR. AS FAR AS I'M CONCERNED YOU CAN TURN THE HOUSE AROUND AND MAKE THIS THE LIVING ROOM!
I LIKE THIS TOO- IF MY WIFE WOULDN'T THINK I WAS LIT, I'D SING "SWEET ADELINE"!

BRICK BRADFORD— In the Fortress of Fear. By William Ritt and Clarence Gray

DID ANY OF YOU DISCOVER WHAT MAY BE BEYOND THE JUNGLE? YOU KNOW, WE PROBABLY MUST CUT THROUGH IT IF WE ARE EVER TO GET BACK TO CIVILIZATION!
COPYRIGHT, 1938, KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.
NOPE—'CEPT WE SAW A COUPLE O' MOUNTAINS THAT LOOKED EXACTLY ALIKE!
HAGU AND MAGU! THE TIGER AND THE LION! THE TWIN PEAKS! NO—NO—IT COULDN'T BE!
WHAT HAS ALARMED SAMSA SO? WHY SHOULD HE DREAD THE MOUNTAINS OF THE TIGER AND THE LION?

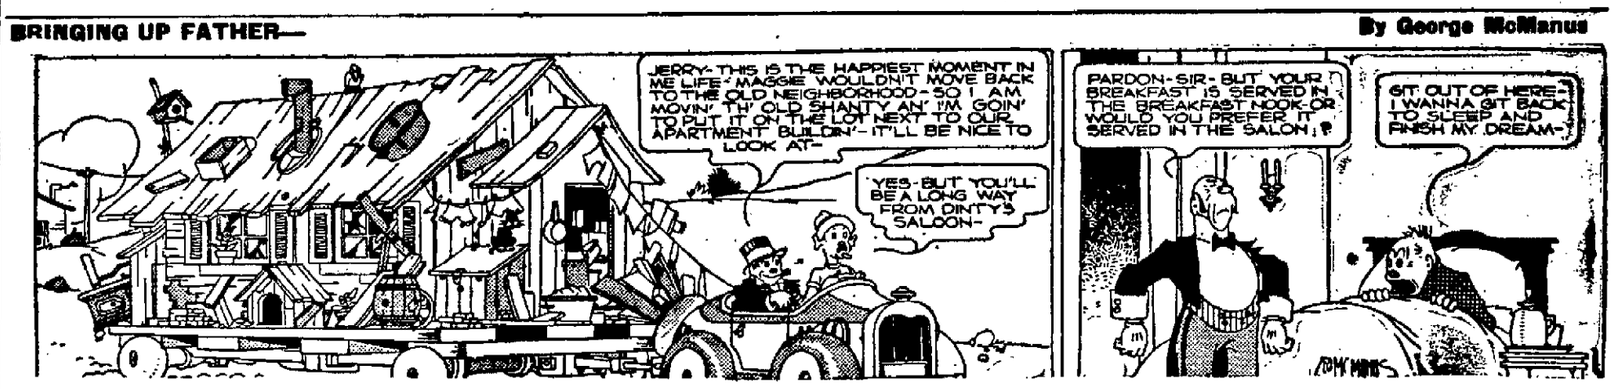
MICKEY MOUSE—Thanks for the Minnows, Barney! By Walt Disney

SEVERAL DAYS LATER, THE WHALE HAS KEPT AWAY AND THE DAFFODIL'S MEN ARE SETTLED DOWN TO THE DULL MONOTONY OF FISHING.
TWO MEN IN EACH OF THE DORIES TAKE CARE OF THE LINES.
SOCH FEESH! DAH!
HUH! OLE BARNEY OVERLOOKED THESE!
OTHERS ON THE SHIP HANDLE THE BIG NETS!
THE SKIPPER, AS DEJECTED AS THE MEN, WATCHES FOR THE WHALE, WHOSE CAPTURE MEANS SO MUCH TO ALL CONCERNED.
HERE I AM, STUCK IN TH' GOSH-DARN GALLEY, WHILE EV'RYBODY ELSE HAS ALL TH' FUN! WHATTA LIFE!

TAILSPIN TOMMY—Will the Boys Be In Time? By Hal Forrest

GET HEEM INTO THE PLANE, QUEEK!
HAD A HUNCH THAT JERRY WOULD MEET US AT THE GATE, BUT.
MEBBE HE'S ON TH' FIELD, TAILSPIN!
THERE HE IS, TOM! AN'...
QUICK, SKEETS! THOSE MEN ARE TRYING TO KIDNAP HIM!

BRINGING UP FATHER— By George McManus



JERRY- THIS IS THE HAPPIEST MOMENT IN ME LIFE- MAGGIE WOULDN'T MOVE BACK TO THE OLD NEIGHBORHOOD- SO I AM MOVIN' TH' OLD SHANTY AN' I'M GOIN' TO PUT IT ON THE LOT NEXT TO OUR APARTMENT BUILDIN'- IT'LL BE NICE TO LOOK AT-
YES- BUT YOU'LL BE A LONG WAY FROM DINTY'S SALOON-
PARDON-SIR- BUT YOUR BREAKFAST IS SERVED IN THE BREAKFAST NOOK-OR WOULD YOU PREFER IT SERVED IN THE SALON?
GIT OUT OF HERE- I WANNA GIT BACK TO SLEEP AND FINISH MY DREAM-

THE GUMPS—A Slight Misunderstanding. By Gus Edson

MAMA, I'VE BEEN ASKED TO TAKE UNDER ADVISEMENT A PROPOSAL THAT WILL CHANGE THE COURSE OF ALL OUR LIVES
A PROPOSAL? WHO ASKED YOU? TELL ME QUICKLY- WAS IT MR. FLEECER?
HUH? YES- I MUST WEIGH THE MATTER VERY CAREFULLY- MY FUTURE, YOUR FUTURE, EVERYONE'S FUTURE HAPPINESS IS CONCERNED!
OOH- I'M ALL A FLUTTER- THIS IS SO SUDDEN!!
THE DEAR, BASHFUL BOY- TOO SHY TO PROPOSE DIRECTLY TO ME— TELL HIM MY ANSWER IS "YES"— OH, I'M THE HAPPIEST GIRL IN THE WORLD!

PAM—Mystery! By A. W. Brewerton

THE SERVANTS' ROOM WAS IN AN L OF THE HOUSE, ON THE FIRST FLOOR JUST OFF THE KITCHEN. THOUGH TERRIBLY FRIGHTENED, THE FAITHFUL JUDD HAD HURRIED TO INVESTIGATE THE CRASH!
NO SUH, KUNNEL, AH- AH DON' KNOW- WHA -WHAT DONE IT!
NO-NO, SUH-NO, SUH!
AND AFTER THE CRASH YOU DIDN'T HEAR ANYTHING- SEE ANYTHING -FURTHER?
WELL, IT WASN'T ANY HANT -GET THAT OUT OF YOUR HEAD!
BY THIS TIME, MRS. BALDWIN AND PAM APPEARED ON THE SCENE; LIGHTS WERE TURNED ON ALL AROUND, AND THE COLONEL WITH JUDD MADE A THOROUGH SURVEY OF THE HOUSE!
WELL- ALL DOORS AND WINDOWS SEEM SECURE!
OH- IT- IT SURELY IS MYSTERIOUS!
GUESS YOU'RE WILLING TO BELIEVE NOW WHAT I'VE BEEN TELLING YOU, CLIFFORD!
NOW, YOU AND PAMELA GO ON BACK TO BED, SALLY; I'M SURE THERE'S NOTHING FOR YOU TO BE ALARMED ABOUT— BUT JUDD AND I WILL SIT UP THE REST OF THE NIGHT— AND TOMORROW WE'D BETTER ARRANGE FOR A WATCHMAN!

LEADERS SURGE AHEAD DURING STRONG BUYING

Blocks Of 1,000 to 5,000 Shares Change Hands On Upside Today.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Strong buying entered the stock market in today's early dealings with leaders surging forward 1 to 5 points.

At an active start blocks of 1,000 to 5,000 shares changed hands on the upside. Wide gaps between bids and offers delayed the opening for many high-priced issues.

Prominent gainrs included Howe Sound, Yellow Truck, J. I. Case, Allis Chalmers, Chrysler, Consolidated Edison, U. S. Steel, N. Y. Central, Loew's and Douglas Aircraft.

Boardroom attention, before the opening, was centered mainly on the defeat of the reorganization bill and "pump-priming" possibilities, but trade prospects came in for some study.

Analysts noted forecasts that the average steel production rate for 1938 would be around 50 per cent compared with 72.3 per cent last year. Company officials were of the opinion, it was said, the rate would rise to between 45 and 50 per cent by the end of May and that a peak of some 60 per cent or more is likely by fall.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO—(AP)—(U. S. D. of A.)—Widespread spring storm conditions again became a factor in the livestock market today, developing fear among buyers that next week's receipts might be sharply curtailed. As a result the steer trade strengthened. The lamb market opened very slow, however, and hogs sold lower.

Hogs: receipts 11,000 including 6,000 direct; market generally 15c to 25c lower than Thursday's average; top $8.90; bulk good and choice 170 to 240 lbs. $8.60@8.65; 250 to 350 lbs. $8.25@8.60, 140 to 160 lbs. $8.25@8.75; good 350 to 550-lb. packing sows $7.50@7.75.

Cattle: receipts 3,500; calves, 500; all killing classes scarce due to prevailing weather; trade active and fully steady at Thursday's average market, few loads good and choice fed steers and yearlings $9@9.40; best held around $9.50, several loads heifers $8@9.15; most fat cows $5.75@6.50; cutter grades mostly $4.50@5.50; selected strong weight sausage bulls up to $7.25 or better, few choice weighty vealers $11; largely $10@10.50; market on weighty offerings, light kinds $8@9.

Sheep: receipts 11,000 including 1,200 direct; trade slow, around 25c lower; talking around $8.75@9 on wooled lambs, sheep steady; good wooled ewes $5; choice shorn ewes $4.75.

PITTSBURGH LIVESTOCK

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—(U. S. Dept. Agr.)—Hogs: 1,050 including 900 direct, one load around 200 lb. averages $9.35 or 10c higher.

Cattle: 125, including 100 direct; nominal. Calves 50, including 25 direct; steady; good and choice vealers $11.00-12.00, few higher.

Sheep 100; shorn lambs up to $8.25 or steady.

MEAT DEALERS
Grocery Retailers
You Are Invited
By The Mansfield News-Journal to attend a merchandising school planned to help you solve many of your business problems of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, is well known for his practical lectures on merchandising problems met by every retailer. He will conduct the big merchandising school.

Mr. P. A. Goeser

Miss Ruth Chambers
Lecturer who will conduct FOOD FASHION REVUE Cooking School to be held here this week. Meet her at the merchandising school; she will have some valuable suggestions for you.

The nationally known authority on meat pictured here has been secured to conduct this big session for the dealers of this city. You will get a wealth of new and practical ideas that will be of mutual benefit to you and your trade. The lecture and meat merchandising demonstration will show . . . how to take the guesswork out of pricing retail meat cuts . . . how to apply modern cutting and selling methods . . . how to strengthen meat advertising copy . . . how to meet the 1938 demand for smaller meat cuts . . . how to make slow moving cuts salable and attractive . . . etc. . . .

Mansfield News-Journal
Food Fashion Revue
Cooking School

Special attention will be given to the meat cuts which will be featured at FOOD FASHION REVUE Cooking School. There will be an increased demand for the cuts prepared at the school; come to this meeting and find out in advance what these cuts will be.

A special gift from this newspaper to the food retailers of the city will be handbooks of instruction on the merchandising problems discussed. These are very valuable textbooks. A set will be given free to each man attending the meeting.

Cleveland Hunts More Clues in 11th 'Torso Murder'

Not That It Matters

—By JANE WILLIAMS

VOX POP—This week's mail bag—hitting a new high for contradictions—confirms my belief that 95 per cent of all newspaper subscribers read a paper, not to keep in touch with events, but to confirm their own opinions. The paper that agrees with their own opinions is swell; the one that doesn't is lousy. Just as simple as that.

Excerpts—so help me, word for word—from letters this week:

"Why did you drop Frank Kent? He was the best thing in your paper." . . . "Thank goodness you dropped Frank Kent. That fellow is so used to knocking and fault finding, he must hate himself." . . .

"It was generous of you, Jane, to put a plug in your own column last Saturday for the new Pegler column. I like his style but too many of his subjects are uninteresting." . . . "I always suspected that your column was more or less a reflection of your boss' ideas (He'll love that!) but now I know it. Else why the boost for Pegler?" . . . "The nerve of trying to substitute Pegler for O. O. McIntyre!" . . . "Why don't you take over McIntyre's column in Mansfield? You can write so much like him when you want to." ('Bout the nicest thing any one ever said to me.)

"I TAKE the News-Journal because I want a home newspaper, but I get so d—— mad every time I pick it up. There isn't a page, nor a column, in which there isn't a veiled dig against the administration. (Didja ever try the society page?) And why do you persist in writing of foreign affairs and politics when you don't know anything about them?" . . . "I like your stuff because you can see the other fellow's side. Your column a week ago was the first one I ever read which didn't make the German people look like dumb cattle being driven willy-nilly with no power to think for themselves." . . . "I liked your column on reorganization so much that I bought ten copies of the paper to send to friends. Out of columns of printed stuff I've read, yours was the only one that made sense." . . . (nice goin', lady).

"You're almost as radical a Republican as Frank Kent; you can't see any good at all in the present administration. (Just about as right on one count as the other. Kent is a dyed-in-the wool Democrat, and works for one of the oldest Democratic papers of the south. He just is 'agin' the New Deal.) There isn't anyone on your paper who knows a thing about politics." (Thanks a million for adding those lost two words. For a minute I was afraid).

Ho hum! And so to beddie with six aspirins and an ice pack.

UNLESS you can adapt yourself and your ideas of the fitness of things, to very sudden changes brought about by Progress, you're highly apt to find yourself straggling along in the tag end of civilization.

It seems such a few years ago that you and I had very definite ideas about how babies arrived, first subscribing to the popular belief that storks managed it; and later, that the family doctor had something to do with it. Still later, as the years passed, came the revelation that God and the mother combined forces to produce the miracle. You managed to arrive at the actual truth (in those days) along about your 13th or 14th birthday. Sometimes later than that. But even afer you knew the Facts of Life (and that the stork and the Easter bunny were about on a par) you didn't discuss them at parties, the breakfast table or in the classroom.

Just how far we have progressed from these fantasies is evidenced in the motion picture, "The Birth of a Baby," which is being shown in a number of theaters and which is reviewed (with pictures from the film) in the current issue of LIFE. The motion picture show the prospective mother through all the stages of pregnancy and the actual birth of the child in close-up.

Medical men undoubtedly will hail the picture as a great step forward in public health and safety for mothers. But what will mothers think of their ten-year-olds seeing the picture? More important, what will the ten-year-olds think? Can't there be an age compromise somewhere, between old-fashioned "innocence" and the modern trend to introduce mere babies to the very fundamentals of life?

A SUSPICION that movie producers never read the books they film is further confirmed by "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer." It is an interesting enough picture for everyone—except the millions who knew and loved Mark Twain's characters. Tommy Kelly, cute little fella from the Bronx, wasn't any more Tom Sawyer than he was Little Eva, and he wore more clothes in the picture than all the inhabitants of Hannibal, Mo., put together, in the days when Twain wrote of them. We didn't recognize a single beloved character, with the possible exception of Aunt Polly, who was too stern, and who seemed to have been with the other unfamiliar characters by mistake.

Early Passage of New Works Program Seen

ROOSEVELT TO ASK HUGE FUND FOR NEEDY SOON

Congressional Leaders See Clear Sailing On Bill For $1,500,000,000 Budget.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Administration senators predicted today that a forthcoming proposal from President Roosevelt for a new public works program would sail through congress with little opposition.

Informed officials said he was considering asking $1,500,000,000 for non-interest bearing loans to states and municipalities for construction projects which would help stimulate industry.

The proposal may be sent to congress soon along with a recommendation for a relief appropriation greater than the $1,000,000,000 he estimated in his budget message would be needed for that purpose in the next fiscal year.

Plans Congress Request

Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference yesterday that he would recommend a larger relief appropriation. He mentioned no amount, but an influential member of the house appropriations committee predicted the figure would be $1,250,000,000.

Senator Bone (D-Wash) declared that congress "will go along with the president" on PWA and relief. Senator Duffy (D-Wis), who said he thought that "renewal of the PWA-type program is very desirable," took the same view.

Another of the administration proposals to provide employment help business awaited only formal presidential approval. That is the bill giving the Reconstruction Finance corporation authority to make long-term business loans from $1,500,000,000 it has available.

The house sent the measure to the White House yesterday by accepting a senate provision that all loans to railroads be approved by the interstate commerce commission.

Some senators said Jesse Jones, RFC chairman, had given them the impression that the RFC would follow a conservative course in its loan policy.

Mr. Roosevelt probably will send to congress Tuesday a message asking immediate legislative action on the railroad problem. There were reports in some quarters that pooling of all railroad earnings might be suggested.

The extent of the unemployment situation was discussed yesterday both at the capitol and at the White House.

3 FACE QUIZ IN RACKET DEATHS

Ex-Convicts, 'Czar' Of Slot Machine Activities Held In Marino Slaying.

(By Associated Press)

YOUNGSTOWN—Three of five men charged with first degree murder in the "ride" death of Roy (Happy) Marino were in custody today as Prosecutor William A. Ambrose indicated evidence may link four unsolved slayings with northeastern Ohio gambling rackets.

Those held were Solly Hart and Herb Ross, both 32, Cleveland ex-convicts, and John Anthoulis, 48, alleged czar of slot machine and numbers lottery activities at Steubenville.

Authorities sought Thomas Galati, another ex-convict, and John O'Boyle, both of Cleveland, who also were named in a secret Mahoning county grand jury indictment containing the charges.

Investigators were seeking possible connections between the slaying of Marino, paroled Youngstown bank robber, Mike Russell, alleged Wheeling, W. Va., numbers leader, Daniel Visnich, felled by a shotgun blast at Steubenville, and James Tisone, Youngstown tavern operator shot dead when gunmen robbed him of $10,000 he obtained to cash payroll checks.

Ross was seized in a Steubenville establishment Callan described as a lottery racket headquarters. Steubenville police surrounded the place.

Callan said Hart and Anthoulis were arrested at the law offices of John Nolan, Steubenville Democratic leader. The detective said the pair was waiting to see the attorney, who counselled them to accompany the officers here.

ROOSEVELT PLANS SUMMER OF TRAVEL, MIGHT VISIT AZORES

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt, close friends disclosed today, is considering a summer fishing trip that would take him by warship to one of three areas far from the United States.

While a final decision rests on when congress adjourns, it was said he was thinking of boarding a cruiser a some southern port around mid-July to strike out for the far off Azores and Madeira Island in the lower Atlantic, the Leeward and Windward Islands in the Caribbean, or the Galapagos Islands in the Pacific.

The vacation trip would take him far from the political scene at a time when many primary election campaigns are at their peak. It would end soon enough, however, to permit a speaking trip or two before late primaries and the November election.

Mr. Roosevelt has indicated indirectly his wish for re-election of certain senators and his friends said they would not be surprised to see him go to bat for some others.

The trip probably would require a month and be made either on the heavy cruiser Indianapolis used on the South American good will voyage in 1936, or one of the navy's newly commissioned 10,000-ton cruisers—the Brooklyn, Philadelphia or Savannah.

Should he desire to take advantage of them, the president has on his desk invitations to address a dozen or more political and non-political meetings and historical observances between May and September. Here are some of them:

June 2—Graduating exercises at the Naval academy.

June 17—Bunker Hill day at Charlestown, Mass.

June 27—Delaware tercentenary.

June 29—National Education association, New York.

July 3—Seventy-fifth anniversary, battle of Gettysburg.

July 8—One hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the opening of the Northwest territory, Marietta, Ohio.

Panda Capture Reminds Col. Pegler of His Own Experiences At Hunting

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—News of the capture of four giant pandas in China reminds me of a hunting experience which I must not forget to relate to Colonel Theodore Roosevelt Jr. some night before a good cracking fire at the Adventurer's club.

Several years ago Colonel Roosevelt led an expedition into the wilds of China looking for a panda, apparently under the impression that a panda was a sort of dragon for the adventurers all grew whiskers and looked like General Grant by the time they came out lugging the pelt of a little thing which they had surprised in its sleep and shot.

After that a lady named Mrs. William Harkness, jr., caught the two baby girl pandas and brought them back alive and the accepted method of trapping seems to be to set out a saucer of milk and a tame mouse and say, "here, kitty, kitty, kitty!"

Well one day several years ago my friend Paul Gallico brought Mrs. Gallico into town from the suburbs to be near the hospital when their baby came and having been told that a lady's every whim should be humored at such a time, he popped into a high-toned pet shop to buy a cat just because Mrs. Gallico remarked that it was funny.

"I want that cat in the window. Wrap it up. How much?" he said and the guy said, "That is a genuine imported Siamese cat—$75."

My pal spun around three times but bought the cat and a wooden cage and took it home by hand to the hotel where they were stopping. There he opened the cage and with a wild cry of "PF-F-T! miarow-ow!" the brute leaped across the room, into the fireplace and up the chimney.

Well, Paul called the manager and the engineer, and he himself went from floor to floor knocking at the doors of rooms on the same flue and getting insulted by retired English colonels and haughty old dames from Boston.

So that night, while the rest were playing bridge, I went to the drug store and got a can of sardines, a bottle of milk and some catnip and set it on the hearth, and nothing happened until the rest of us had gone home. The Gallicos had turned in and were just going to sleep when he heard a terrible spitting and yowling and crashing in the sitting room and went tearing in and slammed the fire screen over the opening. There was this dizzy cat bouncing all over the place and knocking down vases and things and squawking its head off. Paul finally trapped it in the cage and then discovered that his loving helpmate was crying.

"Paul, do we have to keep that damned cat?" she says.

"No, puddin'," he says. "I thought you wanted it."

"Me?" she says. "It's a terrible cat. I just said I thought it was funny."

The guy had told Paul that if he didn't like the cat he could return it, so next morning Paul takes the cat back, and the guy says, "Oh, well, what I meant was you could apply the $75 toward the purchase of some other pet."

But everything they had cost more. Even a waltzing mouse was $90, baboons were $200 parrots $100 and so forth.

Paul realized he was stuck, selected a Boston bull at $150, paid the guy $75 more and that night took the dog out for the air in Central park. He slipped the leash, the dog tore off in the dark, and that was the last he ever saw of the mutt and his $150.

Easy go.

Up and Down THE STREET

Jesse Beer, principal of Senior High school, who has just returned from the Chicago meeting of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, advises any Mansfielders visiting in Chicago before Easter to drop into the Stevens hotel lobby. On display there is an exact replica in confectioners sugar of Westminster Abbey, with its colored glass windows and famous chimes. The chimes ring at the proper time. The sugar creation is seven feet long and six and a half feet high. Beer was so impressed that the management introduced him to the famous chef who created it.

A most original and attractive bridge prize was offered yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Lawrence Houk, 538 Townview circle, when she entertained a group of friends. It was in a large flat box, beautifully wrapped, but no one came anywhere near guessing the contents.—golden, homemade noodles. Guests said there were more real thrills over the noodles than there would have been over any of the "orthodox" bridge prizes usually presented.

Wellington T. Leonard, former Mansfielder, now a member of the state liquor control board, had a most embarrassing time at the opera in Cleveland the other night, according to an upstate newspaper columnist. Leonard, always impeccably dressed, went to the opera in tails and full dress. But when he sat down he became suddenly—and painfully—aware that a bunch of nasty little moths had wintered on the trousers. But as was pointed out, it was a coat with tails, so no one ever guessed Leonard's anxiety.

Floyd Dent, area scout executive, has just about given up trying to map out a program for Boy Scouts to follow during camping periods because of the weather. At the winter camp, Dent planned for a snowball fight and other winter games, but spring came and there was no snow. Now the spring camp opens Monday and the present weather has him guessing. But he has an idea that perhaps the Scouts can carry out their winter program.

DISMEMBERED LEG FOUND BY WPA WORKER

Detectives Search River For Other Parts of Body In New Hunt For Killer.

BULLETIN

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Dredge company employes reported to detectives today they had sighted a woman's head floating in the Cuyahoga river as detectives searched the banks of the river for some clew to help in identifying the 11th victim of Cleveland's mad "torso killer."

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — Detectives searched the murky Cuyahoga river today for gruesome remnants through which they hoped to identify the 11th victim of Cleveland's sex-crazed "torso slayer."

Discovery of a dismembered human leg, from the knee to the ankle, brought from Coroner S. R. Gerber late yesterday the statement:

"It is another torso victim."

Steve Morosky, 35-year-old WPA worker, sighted the limb floating in the industrial stream almost within the shadow of the Terminal tower, lofty downtown railroad station.

Still Unidentified.

Nine of the killer's victims have not been identified, a factor which presented a major obstacle in police efforts to track down the madman.

"This technique is similar to that in the previous butcheries," said Dr. Gerber after examining the severed leg. Authorities hold to the theory that demented doctor, male nurse or butcher has wielded a sadistic scalpel in the series of slayings, dating from 1934.

"Knife marks indicate the slayer was in a hurry," Dr. Gerber added. He explained that "hesitation marks" of the instrument showed the killer was right-handed.

The victim was slain not more than 72 hours before the limb was found, Dr. Gerber said.

Authorities expressed a belief the victim was a blond, mature woman, but Dr. Gerber said he doubted whether the sex could be determined from the fragment. Scientific investigators examined six long blond hairs which adhered to the leg. They also took X-ray pictures of the member.

The killer, who emasculates his male victims, was described by Dr. Gerber as deliberate and cunning," possessed of fundamental knowledge of anatomy.

Palm Sunday Services Usher in Holy Week In City's Churches

Confirmation of Young People and Reception of New Members Set For Tomorrow; Union Holy Week Services to Open Monday Noon at First Lutheran Church.

Mansfield churches will present a majestic introduction to Holy Week tomorrow with special Palm Sunday services, while the city's Protestant churches will join next week in union noon-day services at the First English Lutheran church which will climax the Lenten season.

In their recognition of Palm Sunday, which is in observance of the triumphal entrance of Christ into Jesusalem before his crucifixion, virtually every religious denomination in the city will pay tribute to the Founder of the Christian religion with morning and evening rites.

At four of the churches tomorrow, 110 young people will be confirmed at confirmation services while at four others there will be the reception of new members during Palm Sunday rites. Baptism services are scheduled for three.

Blessing and distribution of the palm will precede the solemn high mass at St. Peter's Catholic church at 11 a. m tomorrow.

The union noon-day services during Holy Week will be climaxed with two Good Friday services, both starting at 12:05 p. m. At First Lutheran church Rev. Peter Young will deliver the sermon while at First Presbyterian church the Rev. Herbert S. Garnes will speak. During the other days of the week, union services will be er, chairman, Rev. Hayes M. Braker, sermon.

The entire Holy Week program, which includes daily services from Monday through Friday, has been planned by a committee under the direction of Rev. E. G. Corwin, pastor of the First M. E. church.

The noon-day services will begin at 12:05 and continue until 12:55 p. m.

Pastors who will be in charge of the services are:

Monday, Rev. H. B. Brightman, chairman, Rev. C. L. Kern, sermon.

Tuesday, Rev. H. E. Tropf, chairman, Rev. Paul H. Saleste, sermon.

Wednesday, Rev. M. A. Eakin, chairman, Adj. D. R. Brown, sermon.

Thursday, Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, chairman, Rev. Hayes M. Braker, sermon.

Friday, First Lutheran church, Rev. E. C. Corwin, chairman, Rev. Peter Young, sermon; First Presbyterian church, Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger, chairman, Rev. Herbert S. Garnes, sermon.

First Lutheran

Reception of new members into the church, including the 1938 confirmation class of 41, will be held during the Palm Sunday morning service at 9:45 a. m. at the First Lutheran church.

The new members as well as the confirmation class will be received into membership by Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor. Rev. Swoyer's sermon topic, "Having the Minds of Jesus."

At 7:30 p. m. a song service will be held, during which the congregation will join in singing old favorite hymns. Rev. J. David Mumford, assistant pastor, will preach on "Christ In Our Daily Living."

The congregation will enter the next to last week of its annual attendance contest with Emmanuel Lutheran church of Pottstown, Pa., trailing by 142. Pottstown won last Sunday with an attendance of 1,276. The First Lutheran attendance was 1,270. The total attendance so far in the contest is First Lutheran 5,923, and Pottstown 6,065. The contest closes Easter Sunday.

During Holy Week, Communion services will be at the church Wednesday, Thursday and Good Friday at 7:30 p. m.

Members of the Confirmation class who will be received into the church are Jeanette Carver, Betty Critchfield, Alice Davis, Martha Funk, Dorothy Gump, Eloise Harbaugh, Martha Herring, Wanda Hess, Gloria Kline, Gertrude Kullman, Mary Laubscher, Clara Lorentz, Dolores Lorentz, Patricia Maglott, Mary Mitchell, Evelyn Schuler, Doro Shade, Velma Siegfried, Marguerite Sweval, Phyllis Sword, Rose Swoyer, Eleanor Underwood, Marjorie Urich, Margaret VanAuker.

Charles Abele Named to Post at Annual Election of Park Avenue Congregation.

Charles Abele was elected superintendent of the Sunday School of the Park Avenue Baptist church at the annual election of officers which followed a family dinner attended by 300 members and guests at the church Thursday night He succeeds Dr. C. C. Kidwell, now of Ashland.

Mrs. Gertrude Kaufman was chosen financial secretary of the church; W. K. Dise, assistant secretary; Alfred M. Colby, treasurer; Miss Orinda Dickson, clerk, and Miss Willamine Hoffman, assistant clerk.

Deacons elected were Charles Swisher, Floyd Belnap and William Kissell. A. O. Widders was named to a trusteeship and W E Jones, Allen Balliet, William Althouse and Sherman Skaggs were named to the finance committee.

Charles Lake was elected chairman of the board of Christian education. Othr members are Mrs Wallace Campbell, Mrs. W. E. Wygant and Mrs. D. D. Deeds.

Members of the nominating committee were Wallace Campbell, Mrs. S. Glenn Vinson and Judge C. H. Huston.

Dr. D. R. Sharpe of Cleveland, executive secretary of the Cleveland Baptist association, was the speaker at the dinner. Discussing Christian unity, Dr. Sharpe said, "There never has been a day when there was greatetr need for those who believe in Christianity to unite against all that denies Its teachings whether it be communism, fascism, naziism or secularism."

The aggressiveness of Christian love, faith and courage is the weapon of the church, he stated.

Rev. Hayes M. Braker, pastor, introduced the speaker.

SATURDAY, APRIL 9, 1938.

Drive carefully tomorrow—you'll be more likely to get there and back.

With one-fourth of 1938 gone, there's an inclination to feel that the press agent exaggerated the merits of the show.

John D. Rockefeller says that as a child he was taught to save—just showing what a change can come about in one generation.

Handicaps to Building Program.

THE HOUSING problem, prosperity of the building trades and revival of general business all seem to be involved in a project Mayor La Guardia has laid before New York labor leaders.

There is available, he explained, $50,000,000 for a private housing plan, attributed to John D. Rockefeller. It can go ahead provided organized labor gives assurances regarding hours, wages and general co-operation, so that the enterprise can proceed without risk of delay and interference.

Mayor La Guardia reminds labor leaders that wages in the building trades have been pitched high because the work is mostly seasonal, and workers have had to make in a few months enough to live on a year. He says three years steady employment can be assured if workers will moderate their hourly pay for the sake of continuous work, in which they would make more money per year.

Thus, it is pointed out, workers would have steady incomes and prospective builders would be encouraged to proceed with their plans. If such a system should spread, there could develop a building boom of national proportions, providing prosperity for years in the building trades and many other industries.

It is uncertainty and fear of high costs and poor workmanship that have seriously handicapped what might otherwise become an extensive residential building program.

Grover Cleveland's Advice.

AS A REMINDER to those who appear inclined to plunge their political party, or their government, into dangerous experiments, it is well to at least occasionally recall the utterances of great men of earlier times.

It was Grover Cleveland, former president and a stalwart Democrat, who, in the year before his death in 1908, said:

"We have fallen upon a time when it behooves every thoughtful citizen, whose political beliefs are based on reason and who cares enough for his manliness and duty to save them from barter, to realize that the organization of the party of his choice needs watching, and that at times it is not amiss critically to observe its direction and tendency . . . "

Thirty years afterward we have again "fallen upon a time" when it behooves every thoughtful citizen, regardless of political affiliation, to consider the course of government and to recognize the perils involved in present administrative policies—policies which, if permitted to proceed without restraint, threaten to quickly undo the hard work of a hundred and fifty years.

The Habit of 'Tipping.'

EVERY little while some reference is made, in a newspaper or magazine article, to the habit of "tipping," usually accompanied by a protest against this "evil."

It is well known of course, that in some forms of employment, "tips" are depended upon to make up for low wages, which produces a bad situation as it tends to vary the quality of service accorded patrons—dependent on their liberality in tipping.

Hotels and restaurants are frequently presented as glaring examples of the extent of tipping requirements and it will be noted that in many places even the slightest service demands a tip.

It seems entirely reasonable that compensation of employes should disregard the matter of tips—but this can scarcely be accomplished in a wholesale way except by slow readjustment.

The fact remains, also, that many persons enjoy the sense of superiority that they feel when giving a tip to someone they regard as an "underling."

What Is Right?

THERE are those who say," observes a minister, "that what passes for conscience is just the voice of some widely organized section of society, or some particular point of view. But if conscience is only the voice of the herd, why is it that conscience protests against the tyranny of the group, as Niemoeller in Germany and Kagawa in Japan have been doing?"

Conscience, he concludes, is more than the mere voice of the group. But it needs to be educated in order to become a dependable guide to conduct. And in educating it, he gives these rules, along with those commonly enjoined by religion:

First, don't lie to yourself—be true to yourself.

Second, give due weight to the experience of the race.

Third, consider whether it will hurt other people. Anything which will injure or destroy life is wrong.

Some might suggest a still broader principle: "Whatever works is right." That is, in the long run. Good is practical. Evil doesn't work—it tends to destroy itself.

Starting on Time.

ONE of the merits of the Metropolitan Opera company of New York is not musical, but businesslike. It begins its performances, whether at home or on tour, at eight o'clock. And when the management says eight, it means eight—not nine or eight-thirty, or even one minute past eight. The curtain rises on the dot, and any customer who enters after that moment is not seated, but has to stand at the back of the house until the first act is finished.

This may seem old-fashioned, at a time when so many public performances start later than they used to. It is sound, however, for two reasons. First operatic performances at best are likely to drag on and keep their patrons out late. Second, it sets a good example for evening affairs in general.

Staying up late has become a national vice. Most people nowadays don't get enough sleep.

Keeping Step

—By LESLIE EICHEL

IT IS NO wonder that the dictators are moving fast in their efforts to conquer Europe. Their peoples are being plunged to the economic depths ever speedier. New "resources" must be conquered.

A British economist, W. G. J. Knop, makes an annual "survey" of the German financial condition for The Banker, London financial monthly.

This year, Mr. Knop says:

"A year ago the picture presented by the economic position of Germany was clearly one to warrant the gravest concern, both as regards the effects of Nazi policy on the well-being of the German people, and on the peace of the world. Unhappily, none of the dark aspects of German economic policy have disappeared; most of them have become even darker; and many fresh causes of anxiety have been added.

"The intensity with which all national life in Germany is subordinated to the one goal of military power grows persistently.

"Yet, to the extent that this involves an ever-growing depletion of material and human reserves, the steady encroachment of the state bureaucracy on the last remnants of sound industrial and financial policy, the isolation of Germany from the rest of the world, and the reduction of the standard of living of the nation—to this extent Germany's economic policy becomes the negation of its purpose.

"Instead of strengthening the military power of the country, the very intensity of military preparations is sapping it. The outside world will have to see to it that the day when the Germans find it impossible to reconcile any longer the technical strength of their armed might with moral and material results of its creation does not offer the leaders of Germany the slightest chance of saving themselves by gambling upon a war of despair. . . ."

The same applies to Italy.

But it also applies, in so far as military expenditures are concerned to France—and in varying degree to every other nation. The matter is not one of immediate financial exhaustion so much as growing economic and social serfdom for inhabitants, engendering bitterness, hatreds and cruel injustices that can end only in the convulsion of war. And that will breed more misery and darkness.

WHAT PLANS?

What plans has Fuehrer Hitler?

His "Mein Kampf" ("My Battle") is a partial guide. He desires all of middle and eastern Europe. Once that is Nazified, he is ready "to take" the Ukraine from Russia. Then France. Then, England.

Didn't someone have much the same plan previously? Yes. Napoleon. He operated from France—and sapped it of its manhood. He, too, conquered Spain (a land whose people never are left at peace). He put kin on many thrones. Then he was "ready" for Russia. And Russia swallowed him up.

He never got very far with the English—although they were in terror of him. They had a hand in finishing him off twice. The second time, they made a good job of it. Every dictator has his Waterloo. Every dictator believes he is to be the one immune.

FINDING MONEY

But to get back to Economist Knop's article:

"There has been a notable tendency during the last year or two to underestimate the implication of reckless public expenditure in the dictatorships. This seems to be the natural reaction from the opposite view widely held before, that the spending of billions after billions for non-productive purposes would sooner or later involve Germany in financial collapse. This view clearly does not hold water; in a totalitarian state the powers of the government over the credit system can prevent any danger of a financial breakdown.

"In present-day Germany, the three main sources of government revenue are taxation, short-term borrowing by means of bill-issues, and medium and long-term borrowing through the issue of loans. To bring about a financial collapse would mean either that the flow of revenue would cease—a possibility which can be ruled out straight-way—or that the government would find it impossible to borrow.

"Yet as long as the banks, the savings banks, the insurance companies and industry still have reserves available for investment in government paper, a financial problem in the technical sense does not rise for the totalitarian state.

"And even if, in spite of official compulsion, it should become impossible to mobilize these reserves through the medium of the money and capital market, the Italian example shows that the state can fall back on measures of expropriation such as capital levies.

"In Germany, the last year has given only further proof that the problem of finding money for a constantly rising government budget in itself is still relatively easy. . . ."

And ever speedier are the people plunged to the depths—because it is "so easy."

Old-Fashioned Way to Reorganize the Government.

Federal Policies Prove Confusing

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—With the publicly discreet Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, leading one side, and the publicly vocal Senator George W. Norris leading the other, a terrific battle has been going on for months as to whether the government shall go ahead with its spending, and gradually encroach more and more on private initiative, or whether it shall stop where it is now despite an unemployment situation which seems to cry to heaven for more government spending.

Jones' viewpoint is represented by the bill now being rushed through congress to provide liberal long-term loans to business.

Senator Norris' viewpoint is advocated by Marriner S. Eccles, of the Federal Reserve Board, by Harry L. Hopkins of WPA, and by Harold L. Ickes, of PWA and whatnot.

Jones' view is that relief is "just a shot in the arm," that employment must be taken care of by private business, which therefore must be aided by the government, if necessary, by liberal, long-term, low-interest loans.

At the moment President Roosevelt is on Jones' side.

BUT it is interesting to read a public statement made by the Federal Power Commission right in the midst of this battle. It is dated April 1, and is headed "Federal Power Commission prepared to begin Fort Worth (Texas) survey on or about April 10."

It is interesting chiefly because of various things the president has said in the last few months—since he became worried about the recession.

For instance, his talk with the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh electric utility officials, about which he at once told the newspaper men. Summed up, he asked these utility magnates if any government competition threatened their systems. They said not. Then why, he asked them, and the press later, did not investors rush in to supply the estimated billion dollars a year that the electric industry should spend to keep abreast of the growing demand? Apparently there was no answer.

Still later, after the supreme court decision upholding PWA loans, and grants for municipal power plants and distribution systems, the president told the press he assumed negotiations would be begun with the owners of the private plants, looking to their purchase by the local governments, so as to avoid duplication of facilities.

Consider how encouraging this sentence from the April 1 power commission statement must be to any prospective investor in the electric industry: "The proposed survey does not contemplate appraisal and valuation of the privately owned electric facilities now serving the city, but an engineering estimate of the cost of constructing a new distribution system capable of serving the entire city at the present time and for some years in the future."

THE power commission's statement also explains the expected source of power for this proposed municipal system:

"The Lower Colorado River Authority is a state agency created by the Texas legislature for flood control, reclamation, and hydro-electric purposes. Its program provides for the construction of four dams, all to produce electric power, on the Colorado river, of which two are practically completed and two are under construction. The program is being financed by a $15,000,000 federal loan and grant from the PWA, and by direct appropriations of approximately $10,000,000 from the Bureau of Reclamation from federal relief funds."

A Congressman Who Walks.

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — Rep. Hatton Sumners of Texas was photographed with his feet on the table—one of those informal poses—and almost the outstanding feature was a hole in the sole of his shoe. How did he get it? He walks.

Members must take their exercise in some manner and Sumners prefers his afoot. He scouts the countryside thoroughly on pleasant week-ends and knows the lay of most Civil war battlefields hereabouts.

But his everyday walking has something special about it. There was a time when he lived in a downtown hotel, ate his meals there and walked to the capitol, a mile or so away, for the exercise. More than one congressman has tired of downtown hotel life and so did Mr. Sumners. So he moved to a hotel on Capitol Hill.

That, however, eliminated the mile walk. He solved that. Now he walks from his rooms across the shady capital plaza to the restaurant in the new supreme court building for breakfast, and back to the capitol, in all about a mile. He goes to the same restaurant for lunch. It doesn't serve dinner.

* * *

The Eggs Are Right.

HE LIKES the restaurant. The help knows how he wants his toast fixed in the morning. They coddle his eggs right.

"You don't have to call on the League of Nations to explain to them each time," he says.

He has to watch his diet a bit. He doesn't always eat toast and eggs. Occasionally in winter he eats a dish we never heard of before. It is oat meal mush, covered with honey. Try it some time. We haven't yet, but will be glad to get reports on it.

His job as chairman of the house rules committee brings him in close touch with federal judges. Complaints about judges being biased, unfair to certain groups of lawyers, sluggish in their work or "tainted" in their conduct, find their way to the house judiciary committee. It is the first body to act in impeachments.

Complaints are pending before the committee most of the time. Few see the light of day. The committee investigates, occasionally summons the judge to Washington to explain, or has a member visit the judge's district. The Constitution gives the committee no authority to discipline judges but when a judge finds the committee is inquiring into his affairs he usually mends his ways—if they need mending.

Home to Roost.

SUMNERS has been in congress since 1913 and a glance at election statistics indicates that nothing is likely to interfere there immediately.

One of the best stories about him dates back to a time when he was district attorney. Chicken-stealing was becoming serious. One day a farmer was arrested with a wagon load of chickens but conviction promised to be no cinch.

Sumners took the wagon load of chickens back to a community which had suffered a loss the night before. Shortly before sundown he turned the chickens loose. They wandered about the wagon for a time, considerably bewildered, then began moving off in bunches, each flock to its own coop. A jury thought that was enough evidence.

Regarding Gas Contract.

Editor News-Journal:

I was pleased to see the timely articles in recent issues of The News-Journal calling attention to the fact that the contract of the Ohio Fuel Gas company with the city of Mansfield expires May 12, 1938, and that it is time to give the matter some serious thought to obtain a reasonable and satisfactory new arrangement.

I personally believe that we ought to obtain a new contract calling for a straight rate and without a minimum charge (service charge) or sand-bag clause (higher rates for later years of the contract). I am firmly of the opinion that the gas company could enter into a contract calling for a straight rate of 50 cents per 1000 cubic feet and still make a legitimate profit.

The most important thing is that the people at large discuss this subject and express their opinions to their respective councilmen, so that the ultimate result will be the reflection of the wish of the people, and a repetition of the unpleasantness of 1934 and 1935 may be eliminated.

Listen, World!

A New Start? Yes! But Are You Willing to Pay the Price?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

NEVER has there been a time in human history when so many people needed, desperately, to make a new start.

Life has changed with incredible speed during these last twenty years. Every department of life is affected by it. The tempo of both thought and action, our ability to feel, adapt and adjust—in home, office or factory—are constantly challenged by the ruthless standards of the Machine Age, leaving millions of men or women, who yesterday were considered record breakers, now rated as Has Beens.

Maybe you're one of these millions—a discouraged man, a frantic woman—who can't understand how or why it has all happened. Desperately you try to reassure yourself . . . try to give yourself an honest once-over. Yes, it's true . . . you do look a little seedy. Perhaps you have let yourself slump . . . become a bit set in your ways. And you haven't the glib line of these youngsters around you, who've never slaved as you have done.

But you'll snap out of it. Everyone lets down, once in a while, don't they? After all, you're only 35 . . . 40 . . . 45. N' people don't have to let themselves get old, nowadays! "Life begins at 40"—thank Heaven!

So you murmur to yourself, promising that you'll get a decent suit for the office . . . read that new book . . . spruce up generally. And momentarily, you're comforted. Then some unexpected word or glimpse of the new Line-up forces realization upon you . . . makes you see how antiquated you've become in method and attitude. As out-of-date as Grandma's bustle! No wonder the Boss glares . . . the Children snicker . . . the Husband yawns.

Oh, you MUST MAKE a new start before it's too late! You haven't yet lost those qualities which made you efficient and beloved 15 or 20 years ago. You still have what it takes . . . the courage and understanding, the patience and pluck. You want to come back . . . and you can come back . . . and (remember the old war song) "there's a whole world waiting for you!"

BUT ARE YOU WILLING TO PAY THE PRICE?

Think it over. Why'd you lose your place in the Big Parade? You lost it because you let go.

It was so easy to "take things a little easier" after the first big struggle was over . . . after you'd become head of your department in the store . . . or the first three babies had been born. So you "took a little rest" . . . stopped worrying . . . stopped battling. Quit reading books . . . discussing new facts and formulas. Began to indulge yourself . . . eating whatever you wanted . . . loafing whenever you felt like it—with the fat creeping, creeping around your waist and above your ears.

And then, one day, you went to work, to find that you weren't part of the Front Line Marchers any more! People weren't admiring you . . . envying you . . . copying and quoting you. The Boss wasn't asking your advice. The Kids weren's boasting about you. Your Wife—or your Husband—wasn't making a fuss over you. You'd dropped out of the picture.

YOU'D DROPPED OUT OF THE PICTURE BECAUSE YOU WEREN'T WILLING TO PAY THE PRICE TO STAY IN.

Life is the most expensive game there is. It costs to stay in it. It costs—constantly. It costs discomfort and change . . . experiments and adventures. There's no such thing as a Permanent Life Ticket. You have to keep buying your way in, new and fresh, all the time.

You can't be a Wise and Beloved Comrade to your child at 40 just because you were an adoring young mother at 20. You can't be a valued Employe at 46 because you hung up the biggest sales record at 26.

YOU'VE GOT TO GO ON . . . AND PAY AS YOU GO!

So "wanting" a new start isn't enough. You must be willing to PAY FOR THAT NEW START. You must be willing to DIE AND BE BORN AGAIN. Are you? Or are you so daggoned comfortable in your tomb that you can't be bothered about resurrections?

Who Owns Government?

In his Gainesville, Ga., blast at American business, President Roosevelt said:

"This nation will never permanently get on the road to recovery if we leave the methods and processes of recovery to those who owned the government of the United States from 1921 to 1933."

Now, who owned the government during that period?

Warren G. Harding, Republican, was elected president by an overwhelming majority in 1920.

Four years later, Calvin Coolidge won by an equally convincing vote of the people.

And in 1928, Herbert Hoover went to the White House on an unmistakable wave of popular sentiment.

The American people, in other words, freely and openly endorsed the economic principles that were dominant at Washington from 1921 to 1933.

For President Roosevelt to imply that someone besides the people has ever "owned" the government of the United States is for him to repudiate the principles of democratic procedure and free elections.

What this country needs above all else is the assurance of economic stability, non-interference on the part of the government and a permanent breathing spell for business and industry.—Newark Advocate.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—In all the rendezvous of fiction, in all the short stories and novels and films there is no character so uniquely temperate as Charlie Chan.

You are certainly well acquainted with Chan. Before Earl Derr Biggers died he had him in six novels. Hollywood has sent him tracking criminals through 18 pictures. And millions have listened to his adventures on the radio.

But consider these points: Chan never carries a gun. He has never been known to lie or boast. He never smokes or takes a drink.

This is the character laid down by Biggers and that is how it must be with all subsequent authors who write new Chan stories for the films or radio.

TO ME the character of Chan is even more of a phenomenon than Tarzan or Mickey Mouse. His creator patterned him after a sergeant on the Honolulu police force and made him a factor in this entertainment-loving world that goes on and on like another of Tennyson's restless rivers.

Today Mrs. Earl Derr Biggers, a blue-eyed, brilliant woman, lives in a lovely Georgian house, surrounded by green lawns in San Marino, California. She is a portrait painter and she likes to attend the races at Santa Anita, just a few miles away from her home. But she is vigilant in her duty to Chan. She would not think of letting him sip a highball, or adopt a braggadocio tone in telling about his latest exploits.

With her staff of lawyers and advisers she watches over old Charlie as carefully as if he were a child slated for kidnaping.

And he is a valuable child at that. Her contract with 20th Century-Fox calls for four new Chan pictures a year, and for each of these she receives $10,000. Then there are the radio rights which bring in something like $1,400 a week.

I SUPPOSE she is very grateful to the actor, Warner Oland, who has done so admirably by her husband's greatest character. Oland has made so many Charlie Chan pictures that he gets fan mail addressed to "Mr. Chan." And people hail him as Chan on the street. Frequently he obliges autograph hunters with a scrawled "C. Chan."

The studios have gone so far to safeguard their prize hero as to groom a stand-in for Oland, in event of long illness or his death. Perhaps you've noticed the young Chinese boy who plays Chan's son in the pictures. His real name is Keye Luke and he will be the new Chan in the event one is ever needed.

Meanwhile, the old boy continues to be the scourge of murderers and blackmailers. He tracks them down and outwits them. Though they have him cornered and threaten him with blackjacks and guns, he never stoops to the crude, strong-arm methods of our modern G-men. Not Charlie. Mrs. Earl Derr Biggers might not like it.

MY VOTE for the Pulitzer prize play this season is "Our Town," which hasn't any scenery, or anything much at all except the thing most plays seldom have: (A) Entertainment value 100 per cent, (B) Timing and pacing, (C) An indefinable quality of forget-me-not which makes you think about it and talk about it long after you've forgotten most of the others.

CHAPTER VIII

Algy got into his bath, and considered with bitterness that Brewster had all the luck. Why couldn't it have been Brewster who had been told off to take that damnable envelope up to Monty? A bit hard on Brewster perhaps, but he tried to picture Brewster under suspicion and failed. Brewster was the perfect assistant secretary, the industrious apprentice, the human encyclopedia. No good bothering about Brewster. This was the affair Algy Somers. What was Algy Somers going to do about it? See his good name and his prospects die a slow death from poison? Well then, what about it?

The answer came to him vigorous and clear—"I've damn well got to find out who took those papers."

Linda's dinner table wasn't a bad place to begin; he would certainly hear the voice of scandal. About the Wessex-Gardners, and the Wessex - Gardner's house - party.

He ran through the guests in his own mind. Monty had been a bit stiff over telling him about them, but in the end had stood and delivered like a man.

* * *

Beaufort and Poppy Wessex-Gardner. The host and hostess. He was the little man with the bald head at the Ducks and Drakes. Insignificant physically and no use socially, but a bulging forehead and probably a great brain. Anyhow he had made masses of money, and was now going to build aeroplanes for the government. They called him Buffo. Sabotage might interest him. Poppy? Amazing clothes, bizzare make-up, moderate personal attractions, age very difficult to tell — somewhere between thirty-five and forty-five. Nothing to suggest whether she was or could be interested in anything or any one except herself.

Another lot of Wessex-Gardners. Bingham and Constance. Man known as Binks. In business with his brother, but definitely a lesser light. Very good bridge player. Constance — Maud Lushington's sister. Vague recollections of having met her — vague recollections of her being even more like a horse than Maud.

Francis Colesborough and the lovely Sylvia. A peach of peaches. Quite, quite negligible in the affair Algy Somers. She wouldn't even know what sabotage was, bless her.

He turned reluctantly to a less radiant image. Francis Colesborough. Very well set up, very well preserved. One of your forceful, industry—building fellows. Second generation of self-made family—timber, steel. Lots of irons in the fire. Lots of money. Easy, pleasant, reasonably good at all things people are good at. Highly efficient, and full of government contracts. Just a trifle aloof.

Monty and Maud. Irreverence toyed with a fantasy of Maud's abstracting Monty's papers. Algy had no deep affection for his cousin Maud by marriage—too much nose—too much upper lip—too many teeth—far, far too many bony ridges in front. Ungrateful of Algy, because Maud had quite an affection for him and always spoke of him as "my husband's young consin." Monty and Maud were off the map. What remained was not promising at all. Buffo, Poppy, Binks, Constance, Francis Colesborough, and the lovely Sylvia. It was really extremely difficult to imagine any of them pinching a government memorandum out of Monty's despatch case with Money next door having a bath. Well, when there are no probables you must take a possible, and if there aren't any possibles, you must work through the improbables, and may even end up with an impossible.

Algy stood frowning into the glass as he dealt with his tie. He was good at ties, and it came out well. He buttoned his waistcoat and slipped his arms into his coat. With his hands at the lapels he surveyed the result. Not too bad. He turned, and was aware of the light glancing oddly across the tail of his coat. A long strip of mirror glass upon the wardrobe door showed a bulge in the left-hand tail where no bulge should be. There oughtn't to be anything in the pocket. It was stiff, and it crackled—paper—thickish paper. He drew it out, and beheld a manila envelope doubled up, folded neatly. He unfolded it, laid it flat. It was an official envelope, and it bore an official address:

The Rt. Hon'ble Montagu Lushington

The words dazzled, the words swam before Algy's horrified eyes. He had handled this envelope before! He had taken it from Carstairs at the study door and gone up to Monty's room and put it down on Monty's dressing-table. He hadn't looked at the address. He hadn't consciously looked at the envelope. But now that he had it in his hand again, he knew that he had noticed the blot in the left-hand corner—a round blob of a blot which had dried very thick, and black, and shiny. This was undoubtedly Monty's envelope—the stolen envelope. And some one had planted it on him. Some one must have planted it on him last night at the Ducks and Drakes where he had taken Gay and met the lovely Sylvia for the first time.

He stared at it. Why? Rather crass attempt to deepen suspicion? Or rather subtle attempt? Other possibilities . . . Too many possibilities . . .

He turned the envelope over, and the flap hung loose. He lifted it and looked inside.

The envelope was empty.

Giles and Linda Westgate lived in a flat which consisted of one large room and several darkish cupboards euphemistically labelled bedroom No. 1, bedroom No. 2, kitchen, and bathroom. Linda had done her best by painting each one a different color and in the brightest possible shade. Her cupboard was a brilliant jade, Giles' canary-yellow, the bathroom emerald, and the kitchen a cheerful orange. The large room she had left alone. It had cream walls, a parquet floor, and no furniture except piles of cushions, a collapsible table, and a dozen chronium-plated chairs. Their brittle, angular brightness reminded Algy of some insect's legs—grasshopper, dragonfly, mantis.

Linda furnished her room with people. There were eight of them for dinner, and a crowd afterwards. She wore scarlet velvet, which went very well with her cream skin and her cream walls. She had black hair which never stayed where it was put, and dancing eyes with a dark, malicious sparkle in them—a vivid creature, decorative and talkative as a parrot and quite as indiscreet. Giles, a budding barrister, talked nearly as much as she did, and could be witty. They had a great many friends, and spared none of them.

Algy, coming into the room, was aware of a sudden silence which seemed so abnormal in any room of Linda's as to make him positive they had been talking about him. If he flinched he contrived not to show it, and in a moment Linda was hanging on his arm and chattering at him.

"Algy, darling, we were talking about you. Didn't you hear us all stop dead?" (Clever to take the bull by the horns like that.) "Would you like to know what we were saying?"

Algy said, "Very much." But he thought he knew already.

There were four people there besides the Westgates. Two of them laughed, and two made rather a lamentable failure of an attempt to appear quite easy and comfortable. Algy said how do you do to the friends of Linda's who had been asked to balance a friend of Giles'—pretty girl with red hair; dark young man with a superiority complex—and to James and Mary Craster, whom he liked. It was James and Mary who had been embarrassed, and the other two who had laughed.

"And what were you saying about me?" he said, and saw Mary blush and Linda twinkle maliciously.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

MANSFIELD WOMEN TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Mrs. Middleton Will Be Assistant Chairwoman; Tourist Club, Round Table, Junior Sorosis Appoint Official Delegates.

WHEN the 42nd annual convention of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs opens Tuesday in Columbus at the Deshler-Wallick hotel, Mrs. Earl B. Padgett, Galion, and Mrs. Ambrose Middleton, Mansfield, will be among the women who are responsible for the affair. Mrs. Padgett is general convention chairman and president while Mrs. Middleton will be serving as one of the assistant chairwomen.

Other Mansfield women who helped make the arrangements are Mrs. Elmer Post, district committee woman for the work of the blind; Mrs. Sidney Palmer, committee woman for the division of correction, and Mrs. Philip Wolfe, committee woman for the division of problems in industry. All of these women except Mrs. Post, who is visiting in the south, are expected to attend the convention.

Mrs. Middleton will act as general delegate for th Mansfield Sorosis, Round Table club, Tourist club, Conversational club, Junior Sorosis, Victorian club and the recently organized Women's Civic club. These Mansfield organizations are members of the federation.

Tourist club is sending Mrs. W. L. Parkinson and Mrs. C. V. Gates. Mrs. R. F. Miller and Mrs. George Bowers will serve as alternates. Round Table club is sending Mrs. B. L. Chase and Mrs. George Anson with Mrs. W. J. Tappan and Mrs. Stanley Richardson listed as alternates.

For the junior day activities on April 14 a number of the Junior Sorosis members have planned to make the trip to Columbus. Those expecting to go are the Misses Virginia Anderson, Olive McNamara, Ruth Zelenka, Edyth Mann and Helen Anderson, Mrs. Lyle Baumgardner, Mrs. Eugene Linham and Mrs. S. R. Baird.

Official delegates were not named by the other organizations, but it was expected that members of all the groups would be present for some of the sessions. Mrs. Padgett will entertain Monday after the board meeting with a banquet in honor of the executive committee.

Enemies of Flowers Subject For Paper

"Flower Enemies and How to Fight Them" was the subject of the talk given by Mrs. Glenn Marriott at the meeting of the Cottage Garden club at the home of Mrs. Ira Bronson, Linden road, with Mrs. T. T. Burns as assistant hostess. Mrs. Sherman Wentz conducted the business meeting which preceded the program.

Covers for 16 members were laid at the long table which was decorated with spring flowers and lighted tapers. Mrs. W. H. Goodenough and Mrs. H. S. Stiffler presided at he table. The next meeting will be April 22 at the home of Mrs. A. C. Tuttle, 4 Summit court, with Mrs. E. L. Robertson as assistant hostess and Mrs. B. F. Mrs. Spreng Talks On Three Gardens At Astowela Meet

Three gardens of Charleston, S. C., were described by Mrs. W. J. Spreng yesterday at the meeting of the Astowela Garden club at the home of Mrs. L. W. Birch. Mrs. J. H. Finefrock assisted. The gardens described by Mrs. Spreng were the Magnolia, a natural garden, the Cypress and the Middleton which is a landscaped garden.

Mrs. Paul McConnell gave the paper of the afternoon when she spoke on "The New Flowers of 1938." In her paper she told of the rock garden variety of morning glory which was given the national award. She spoke of other new flowers and spoke of the lupins raised by Russell.

Luncheon was served at a table decorated in a Mexican color scheme of red and yellow. Mrs. D. C. Lavender, Mrs. Louis Ott and Mrs. W. G. Black presided at the table. The next meeting will be April 22 with Mrs. C. V. McConnell. Mrs. M. E. Geiple will be associate hostess. The plant exchange scheduled for this meeting has been postponed until May 6.

Discusses Gourds At Club Session

Mrs. Stuart Cramer displayed many types of guords to illustrate her talk at the meeting yesterday of the Town and Country Garden club which was held at the home of Mrs. Derl Arehart 710 West Third street. Mrs. Cramer told of the origin of gourds and how to grow them. She described various types of the fruit and related how they are used. Mrs. Kenneth Woodman then read a chapter from the book, "The Plant Doctor," telling what should be done in the garden in April.

This was a regular luncheon meeting with 18 members present. Mrs. H. Soulen was made a new member. The table was centered with a bowl of yellow calendulas. Mrs. Woodman, 55 Euclid avenue, will be hostess for the next meeting which will be April 22.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, April 10.

SUNDAY'S HOROSCOPE holds omens of rather difficult situations arising to frustrate alluring prospects. These seem to be part of very promising financial conditions, although of a speculative and uncertain nature. Be cautious, alert to fraud and wary of strangers. Do not act impetuously or recklessly

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year of much promise, although the element of speculation is accented. A subtle impediment may arise to threaten the good fortune unless the utmost caution is exercised in regard to fraud or dubious strangers. Fine promises but keen acumen are indicated.

A child born on this day may have high ambitions and may figure on its personal popularity and good fellowship to attain its objectives. At times it may encounter difficulties and frustrations owing to its rashness and impetuosity.

For Monday, April 11.

MONDAY'S ASTROLOGICAL forecast is for a very important day in business, private and even romantic affiliations, judging by powerful planetary configurations. One may expect lively and exciting situations in connection with new contracts, travel and fresh opportunities and environs. Social, domestic and emotional functions should give much pleasure, and it is probable that courtship or marriage may figure conspicuously if not sensationally.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a very exciting and adventurous year. There may be a reorganization of the entire life, with excellent prospects in new fields, pleasant, new contacts and interests, all affecting the private as well as business lives.

A child born on this day may have unusually brilliant talents, with much originality and ingenuity. It may be scientific, inventive and artistic as well.

Early Nineties Artists' Topic Of Paper Given At Study Club

"ARTISTS of the Early Nineties" was the subject of the paper presented by Mrs. David Talbot yesterday at the meeting which was held in the Chinese room of the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Mrs. Talbot, Mrs. J. Arthur Nichols and Miss Cora Walsh were the hostesses.

Those artists discussed were Robert Henri, Eugene Speicher, Frank Duveneck, William Merritt Chase and John Singer Sargent. Henri was known as the Abraham Lincoln of American artists because he set us free from European influences in art. The quiet excellence in all his work made Speicher known as the young American old master.

Duveneck received much acclaim in Boston and Chase's early paintings were very popular. He later became an instructor and antique collector and used much of his collection as a background for his painting. Sargent was an aristocrat himself and painted aristocrats, his work always depicts beauty whether there is any real beauty in the subject or not.

The 30 members present heard Miss Florence Robinson give the current art events which dealt with Cameron Booth an artist from the western farms. Miss Henrietta Frank gave a brief talk on the Northwest Territory celebration and the part Mansfield will take when it comes here May 2.

Tea was served at a table decorated with yellow lemon daisies and Talisman roses. Mrs. Harvey Lanehart and Ms. Carl Damron poured. The next meeting will be a picnic at the home of Mrs. Carl Spangler, Park avenue west road, April 22. Mrs. Lanehart will be associate hostess.

Cosmopolitan Club Hears Two Books Reviewed At Meeting

TWO book reports were presentsented yesterday at the meeting of the Cosmopolitan club at the Women's Club. Mrs. F. L. Hanson was hostess. Mrs. F. T. Wendt spoke on Dale Carnegie's book, "How To Win Friends and Influence People," and Mrs. William Hazeltine gave a report on "My Musical Life" by Walter Damrosch.

The Carnegie book, Mrs. Wendt explained, was the result of a survey which was made to find out if a book giving suggestions on how to get along with people was needed by adults. Such a volume had never before been written with exactly the same background and with the same purpose.

Carnegie now teaches in New York City where he is able to command a $1 a minute for giving instructions to personnel men. He has trained 15,000 men in the past 24 years and has instructed a number of famous persons.

The versatile and colorful life of Damrosch is reported in his autobiographical work. Bern in Breslau Silesia in 1862 at the age of 20 he carried out his father's plans by bringing the Metropolitan Opera company from New York on tour to Chicago. The elder Damrosch was the first to introduce Wagnerian opera in the Metropolitan.

He married Margaret Blaine, daughter of Secretary of State James Blaine, who served under Harrison. Damrosch is regularly retiring and as regularly launching some new musical enterprise. He is best known for his work in schools and on the radio. Mrs. Hazeltine also read a brief article on Deems Taylor.

The next meeting of the club will be April 22 at the Women's Club. This will be a luncheon and business meeting. Mrs. C. O. Russell will be hostess and she will be assisted by Mrs. Hanson and Mrs. Wendt.

MARGARET FISHER WED AT ST. JOHN'S TODAY

Single Ring Ceremony Unites Mansfield Girl and G. Milton Priess Before Evangelical Church Altar at High Noon.

AT THE stroke of 12 today Miss Margaret Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fisher, 25 Buffalo street, became the bride of G. Milton Priess, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Priess, Nakomis, Ill. The single ring ceremony was read by Rev. Paul H. Saleste at the altar of St. John's Evangelical church.

The bride wore an ivory bridal satin gown in the Empire style with long tight sleeves and neck line trimmed with fine pleating. Two rhinestone clips cut in the sweetheart style at the throat were the only trimming of the gown. The full skirt fell in a medium length train. A virgin style veil fell to the waistline of the frock both front and back and was held in place by a band of flowers made of illusion petals and orange blossoms.

The bridal bouquet of lilies of the valley and white roses was made shower style. Attending Miss Fisher was her sister, Katherine, who wore a rose taffeta gown made with a short bolero. It was trimmed with tiny shirred ruffles of net in a matching shade and a tiny bonnet of taffeta was worn with the gown. Her flowers were Talisman roses, cornflowers and sweetpeas.

Attending the groom were John Lorentz, John Fisher, jr., Peter Zimmerman and John Pasheilich. A wedding reception and luncheon was served immediately following the ceremony at the Women's Club to 35 guests. Mr. and Mrs. Priess then left for an eastern wedding trip. They expect to be at home in Mansfield upon their return about Easter Sunday.

Mrs. Campbell Talks to Johnny Appleseed Club

Mrs. Wallace Campbell was the guest speaker when the Johnny Appleseed Garden club met yesterday at the Women's club with Mrs. Henry Huston as hostess. Ohio birds were the subject of Mrs. Campbell's talk and she spoke on their songs, habits and identifying characteristics.

The garden calendar was read by Mrs. J. T. Lusignan. There were 18 members present for the 11 a. m. meeting. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Joy Herbert, Marion avenue, and will be a 1 o'clock luncheon and afternoon meeting.

History Of Houses on Viewre Program

Miss Grace Wilson entertained members of the Viewre club at the home of Mrs. Hugh Rust yesterday when the organization continued the study of the history of Ohio. "Ohio Historical Houses" was the subject of the paper which Mrs. Herman Brunk presented.

"Whatever monuments we leave behind," Mrs. Brunk pointed out, "there are none which reveal character like our homes." She told of Ohio being the melting pot of America for it absorbed all the immigrants of the east and blended their customs, ideals and habits.

The settlement at Shoenbrunn, the Mormon temple at Kirkland and the early southern taverns and colleges were also discussed. Miss Rhea Doolittle will entertain at her home May 20.
